News from all the world—
"Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor night, stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."

One gathers from all these rumors that the noble Count Salm is ready to follow Omar's advice—take the Rogers cash and let the credit go.

Good news for those who are fighting the British rubber monopoly from Liberia, where Harvey Firestone gets a concession to grow his own tires. Uncle Sam pretty nearly booted away this little black republic, which sprang from American inspiration, in the reactionary days which followed the war, but maybe Yankee enterprise can restore our foothold on the African coast.

Lord Northcliffe's former secretary says she is in communication with the spirit of her late employer. It is understood he is managing editor of the Daily Celestial Globe—or maybe the Freesia Companion.

Congress undertakes to regulate the salaries of judges and government clerks, the moral of which is, study law!

"How dull it is to pause to make an end,
To rust unburnished, not to shine in use!"

In the spirit of Ulysses of old, Edward L. Doheny at 70 looks back upon a life of marvelous adventure, an epic of the old West that has all but passed away, and like Ulysses he may say that he has drunk delight of battle with his peers, that he is part of all that he has met. Here in a court record is a human interest document, a tale that reads like one of Bret Harte's stories of the early mining days, when friendships were founded on the bedrock of the deepest emotions a man may know.

"What boots such progress, when the golden lead
From heedless haste is lost upon the road?"

Secretary Mellon throws a protecting arm around that greed-provoking surplus in the Treasury. The more haste the less speed.

North Carolina is looking for a "capable Christian lawyer" to lead the fight against evolution. Don't get hurt in the rush, boys!

In view of the fact that the United States is capable of producing five times as much so-called "poison" gas as all the rest of the world combined, and in view of the further fact that this weapon puts more combatants in hospitals and fewer in graves than any other, and in view of the additional fact that if we ever got into a war we'd use it, anyhow, treaty or no treaty, the proposal to disarm Uncle Sam emanating from Geneva smacks a little less of philanthropy than the pacifists would make out. Why not be consistent, and go back to bows and arrows?

The Department of Justice sticks its nose into the fertilizer trust and decides that it smells very suspicious.

'Tis good to note the old year ends in such a flood of dividends,
So Santa Claus can be quite free
With what he puts upon the tree.
Good news for the installment man is such a thoughtful little plan.

With all those Congressmen getting their hot cakes and maple syrup up at the Executive Mansion these frosty mornings, Chairman Madden may just as well make up his mind to face a deficit in the House restaurant this session.

The conference on the cause and cure of war breaks up in a fight. Peace is easily found in the dictionary.

Thanks to the generosity of the House of Representatives the Chief Justice of the United States will now be able to command almost as big a salary as a good first baseman.

There's nothing so novel, after all, in the Bolivian scheme to tattoo the palms of voters to prevent repeaters, only Philadelphia works it with reverse English.

Judging by the alarm of some of our parents high school girls nowadays hardly ever get home from their drinking parties in time to undress for school. As Josh Billings once sagely remarked, "way back in the Seventies," "to bring up a child in the way he should go, travel that way yourself once in a while."

A. Mitchell Palmer's indorsement of Al Smith seems to indicate that he will not try to get the Georgia delegation in 1928.

But what's a Senator under investigation going to do when he has to sit as a committee investigating some other Senator?

President Coolidge decides to take a land cruise at the Mayflower.

$500,000 OFFERED SALM TO DROP HIS SUIT, SAY REPORTS

Count Must Surrender
Claim to Son, Court
Rumors Assert.

COUNSEL FOR HEIRESS
AND NOBLE RETICENT

Trial Adjourned to January
17; Attack on Judge Levy
Is Revealed.

Special to The Washington Post.
New York, Dec. 9.—Rumors that Count Ludwig Salm von Hoogstraeten was to receive $500,000 or more from the family of Countess Millicent Salm, formerly Miss Rogers, in consideration of his discontinuing his separation suit, were current today after Herman B. Goodstein, counsel for the count, unexpectedly had the trial before Justice Aaron J. Levy, in the supreme court, adjourned to January 17.

"I have nothing to say," was the way Mr. Goodstein met this report after the brief session of the court today.

As to the reported settlement having been agreed upon at a conference to night between the count's attorney and Alfred C. Conway, counsel for Countess Salm, Mr. Goodstein said, "I need no conference with any one tonight regarding any settlement of this case."

Mr. Conway refused to comment on the report and members of the family of Countess Salm were equally reticent.

Witnesses Are Sought.
When court reconvened today for the second day of the trial, Count Salm was to take the stand and continue cross-examination. Instead, Mr. Goodstein arose at his place at the counsel table and requested the adjournment of the trial. His explanation of this request was that he wanted time to bring to court witnesses who would testify to the financial ability of the count to care for his son Peter, whose custody is the chief issue of the litigation, and also the moral fitness of Salm to have the boy's custody.

The count, suing on the ground that Countess Salm abandoned him, an allegation which her attorney admitted and to which he added that she would never return to her husband, insists that Peter be given into his custody, a claim which gives his American wife her only concern in the separation action. Peter, 2 years and 2 months old, is now with Countess Salm, who will fight to the last to retain custody to have him removed from her custody.

Countess' Counsel Agrees.
Justice Levy asked Mr. Conway whether he had any objection to offer to the adjournment asked by counsel for the count. Mr. Conway told the court he would not oppose the request, but indicated that at the proper time he would make use of the ace he has reserved of moving for a dismissal of Salm's complaint on the ground that the court here is without jurisdiction, in view of the fact that Count Salm is an alien nonresident.

If Justice Levy should grant such a motion, that would end the action unless the order was reversed by a higher court. On the other hand, if Justice Levy should deny the motion to dismiss the action, in view of the acknowledged abandonment of Count Salm by the countess, a decree of separation would follow. Justice Levy's order then would have to determine the question of the child's guardianship, and in this the court has a wide discretion and may, if he sees fit, decide that the best interests of Peter Salm would be best served by leaving him in the care of his mother, although she was the defendant in the suit, and at the same time permit the father to see his boy at stated periods.

Of course, if Col. Rogers, the millionaire father of Countess Salm, is willing

Rand Kardex Merger Is Halted by Ruling

New York, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Merger of Rand Kardex Bureau, Inc., and the Globe-Wernicke Co., manufacturers and dealers in office equipment, was halted today. Federal Judge Francis A. Winslow entered a decree ordering the Rand Co. to turn over to David H. McAlpin $4,000,000 par value of stock of the Globe-Wernicke Co., now held by Rand Kardex Bureau, Inc. The trustee is directed to dispose of this stock before December 31, 1926.

The court order was entered on agreement of all the parties and meets the demands of United States Attorney Emory R. Buckner in his anti-trust litigation and will permit the two companies to continue their business separately.

Officers of each company said they anticipated no financial loss will result.

TYSON CHALLENGED AS INQUIRY FEVER SPREADS IN SENATE

Neal Says $1,800,000
Was Spent in His Behalf
in Tennessee.

By NORMAN W. BAXTER.
The "investigation fever" epidemic in the United States Senate broke out in several new places and forms yesterday.

What slight chance some members have seen heretofore for the transaction of public business is receding in their opinion, due to the virtual certainty that the Senate will be flooded with oratory on the various phases of these investigations and the possibility that if the present rash continues to spread the majority of the Senate will be busy on some one or the other of the pending and prospective inquiries.

The name of Senator Lawrence D. Tyson, of Tennessee, was added to those whose right to sit in the Senate has been challenged through the submission of the charge by John R. Neal, of the same State, that $1,800,000 was spent in behalf of Tyson's candidacy in the 1924 primary.

Senator C. C. Dill, of Washington, introduced in the Senate identical resolutions demanding that the credentials of William S. Vare and Frank L. Smith be refused during the present Congress, a request which, if supported by the Senate, would prevent the two men from obtaining office space or funds for clerk hire March 4, when the life of the Seventieth Congress officially begins.

Democratic senators who composed the board of strategy during the recent congressional elections conferred with W. B. Wilson, defeated candidate for the Senate in Pennsylvania; John E. Cuffey, Democratic national committeeman from that State, and Miss Agnes Wilson, daughter of the former Secretary of Labor, relative to a possible contest for Vare's seat, without reaching any decision.

Maryland Dry Agent Is Slain in Florida

Pensacola, Fla., Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—W. B. Mobary, of Maryland, and J. P. Brandt, of Tampa, Federal prohibition agents, were killed at Perry, Fla., about noon today. It was reported by Sheriff F. L. Lipscomb, of Taylor county, tonight, by J. W. Buchanan, who is under arrest. Buchanan, about 50 years of age, according to Sheriff Lipscomb, admitted having killed the prohibition officers, using both a shotgun and a pistol. Further details were not given.

Charge for Spain Beaten by Mexicans

Mexico City, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Pedro Gual, the Spanish charge d'affaires here, was saved from possible serious injury at the hands of an infuriated crowd by Aaron Saenz, the Mexican foreign minister, late yesterday. The Spanish diplomat was being mauled mercilessly by the crowd for striking a traffic policeman in the face and knocking him down because the policeman stopped his automobile for violating a traffic rule.

Senor Saenz happened upon the scene, recognized the Spanish charge, rushed into the vortex of the melee and loudly shouted to the crowd that the man they were beating was a Spanish representative to Mexico. The hostile element then ceased their attack.

Gay Diplomatic Throng At White House Reception

President and Mrs. Coolidge Receive Colorful Assemblage Representative of Foreign Nations at Annual Greeting to Ambassadors and Ministers.

Stateliness and picturesqueness vied with one another at the state reception given by President and Mrs. Coolidge at the White House last night in honor of the diplomats accredited to this world Capital.

It was the first of the formal functions of the season, except for the cabinet dinner last Thursday, and it marked the beginning of a series of state receptions which promise to rival in brilliancy similar events in this and past administrations.

More than 2,000 guests were received by the Chief Executive and his wife before they retired to their private apartments on the second floor of the White House and the affair was officially over with their withdrawal, although it was some time before all the guests had left the mansion.

This was the first assembly of the diplomats this season and cordial greetings between the envoys and vacation reminiscences were exchanged on all sides. After the guests had passed through the blue room and been received by the President and Mrs. Coolidge they passed into the east room and formed in little groups chatting gaily in many tongues.

Behind the line in the Blue Room were cabinet members, high officials of the government and distinguished guests. President and Mrs. Coolidge received alone as usual, although the presentations were often augmented by a word from Secretary of State Kellogg, who, with Mrs. Kellogg, stood nearby.

It was apparent that the diplomatic group in Washington has grown in size since the world war and the entrance of new lands into the family of nations. The increased number of diplomats of honor and their staffs was associates to be received made the guests of honor list so large last night that the number of guests outside officialdom and Congress was limited.

As usual, the diplomatic reception was one of the most colorful of the state functions. In the first place the envoys were a glittering panorama of magnificent uniforms and court costumes, and the gorgeous uniforms of the men were in vivid kinship to the handsome gowns worn by the women guests. It was a procession of court costumes which passed before the President and Mrs. Coolidge.

The President was in the most genial of moods and Mrs. Coolidge was her usual gracious self. Each guest received a cordial handshake and a special word.

DAWES TO GET NOBEL PRIZE, FRENCH HEAR

Peace Award for 1925 Said to Go to Vice President and Chamberlain.

Paris, Friday, Dec. 10 (By A. P.).—The Nobel peace prizes for 1925 have been awarded to Charles G. Dawes, Vice President of the United States, and Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, and those for 1926 to Aristide Briand, French Minister of foreign affairs, and Dr. Gustav Stresemann, who holds the German foreign affairs portfolio, said a dispatch from Oslo, Norway, printed this morning in the newspapers L'Avenir and L'Ouvreur.

On December 2 of last year the Norwegian storting, which awards the Nobel prizes, said it had been decided to withhold the peace prizes for 1925. In Oslo it was said this decision was due to the fact that candidates for the honor had to be submitted to the Nobel committee before February 1, 1925, and that none of the statesmen concerned in framing the Locarno treaties could therefore have been considered.

Unofficially it was reported that Mr. Dawes, Sir Austen Chamberlain, Mr. Briand, Prince Charles of Sweden, and Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany, had been mentioned as candidates.

Storms in California Wreck Planes; 2 Dead

Special to The Washington Post.
Los Angeles, Calif., Dec. 9.—Two navy airplanes, each valued at $25,000, were sunk in last night's 60-mile gale off the Los Angeles harbor region.
Two lives were lost and the damage to merchant vessels was heavy. Ships were damaged, beached or stove-in in the most vicious gale which has visited the local section in years. The gale cut off all communication between the shore and United States navy vessels for eight or ten hours.
John Kelley and L. McKinley, fishermen, who put to sea in an 18-foot open boat, were reported drowned.

COOLIDGES SELECT MAYFLOWER HOTEL FOR 6-MONTH STAY

To Remain While White House Roof Is Repaired;
Reject Homes.

The Mayflower hotel will be the "temporary White House" while the executive mansion is undergoing repairs this winter, it was learned last night. President Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge, it was said, have accepted the invitation of the Mayflower management and elaborate plans are being made to provide for their comfort.

The De Sales street entrance of the hotel will be set aside for the exclusive use of the President and Mrs. Coolidge, and a private elevator also will be designated for their use. The lobby just inside the De Sales street entrance will be walled off from the main lobby and other steps taken to insure privacy for the distinguished guests.

Everett Sanders, secretary to President Coolidge, already lives at the Mayflower, as do Attorney General John G. Sargent and many other notables.

Away Six Months.
President and Mrs. Coolidge will be forced to live away from the White House for about six months, that being the length of time it is estimated will be consumed in making repairs to the historic mansion. It will be the first time a President has been obliged to move out since the administration of President Roosevelt.

How many persons Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will take to the Mayflower with them is not known, but the hotel is known to be setting aside a large number of rooms. William L. Moffat, a prominent broker of New York, had tentatively engaged a large suite on the second floor of the hotel for a Washington headquarters. It is understood he has been asked to relinquish this space so that the President may use it.

Investigation Starts On Richards' Office

At the suggestion of the Gibson subcommittee of the House, investigators of the bureau of efficiency began an investigation of the office of Tax Assessor William P. Richards yesterday, to be followed by investigations of the district purchasing and tax collecting offices, relative to advisability of reforms in business practices.

It is estimated by bureau officials that the investigation will be completed by the end of the month and the results will be submitted to Representative Gibson.

Northcliffe's Spirit Talks, Says Secretary

London, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Miss Louise Owen, for twenty years secretary to the late Lord Northcliffe, British newspaper publisher, declared on the stand in chancery court today that she communicates with her former employer in the other world. As one of Lord Northcliffe's legatees, Miss Owen is seeking to set aside an agreement for the sale of certain of the Northcliffe securities on the ground that they are being disposed of at less than their value.

Asked if she claimed to be in communication with Lord Northcliffe, she held up a silver cross and replied: "I claim to be in communication with Lord Northcliffe, as much as I do with my mother and father, who have gone over and are looking after me."

UNSOLICITED, HE AVERS

Cross-Examination On Today;
Wife and Son Witnesses;
Trial Nears End.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Edward L. Doheny yesterday became the star witness in the conspiracy trial involving himself and Albert B. Fall as codefendants. His testimony, after more than three hours of direct examination, eclipsed all previous evidence offered by the defense in many respects and brought to a dramatic climax the testimony references so far made respecting the navy's plans to protect the Pacific coast against attack and the navy's desire to have a fuel-oil base at Pearl harbor in order to be insured of that protection.

A tense moment in his testimony came when Doheny mentioned Japan by name and told of the secret war plans of the Navy Department which Rear Admiral John K. Robison communicated with the authority of the Secretary of the Navy in order to induce him to make a bid for the contract.

But Doheny's testimony, which followed that of his wife and son, all three of whom had been subpoenaed as government witnesses, contained other high spots and one distinct surprise. This latter feature came when Doheny testified that Fall had come to him, after all the indictments against both had been quashed by Justice McCoy, of the District Supreme court, and gave him a one-third interest in his incorporated ranch holdings, as security for the $100,000 loan.

Features of Doheny's Testimony.
The salient features of Doheny's direct testimony—cross-examination will begin today—were the following:

First—That he had had no communication with Fall nor verbal conference respecting the terms of the oil leases or the Pearl harbor contract and that he had left these matters to his subordinates to handle with the Navy Department.

Second—That he was opposed to his company's becoming involved in the Pearl Harbor contract and contingent Elk Hills lease until the Navy Department appealed to him as a patriotic American to render assistance to his country at a time when such aid was needed.

Third—That he made the contract without expecting to profit and has given the government commercial concessions approximating $30,000,000 in return for the Elk Hills lease.

Fourth—That the $100,000 loan anticipated profit to the Pan-American Co. through the Elk Hills lease was predicated upon an outlay by the company of $200,000,000 over a period of from 25 to 40 years, thereby representing about 6 per cent profit on the capital invested.

Fifth—That the $100,000 loan to Fall was a purely personal transaction known to the members of his own family, prompted by desire to help an old friend and secured by a promissory note in place of the mortgage which Fall offered as security.

Doheny Ready Witness.
Doheny, who was called to the stand at 11:15, turned out to be an unhesitating and ready witness. His ruddy complexion had returned after the pale of his recent illness. He still carried his arm in a sling and it was observed that he protected it with marked care as he pushed his way past his counsel on his way to the stand.

His son, Edward L. Doheny, Jr., had preceded him on the stand and had told in a straightforward way of his connection with the Fall loan and his lack of connection with any matter pertaining to the oil leases.

Mrs. Doheny had been an earlier witness, having testified just before her son, and it was noted that the elder Mr. Doheny displayed interest in the complacency of his wife while on the stand. Apparently the surroundings had no effect on Mrs. Doheny, who appeared as much at ease as if she were in her own drawing-room, and answered questions without displaying the slightest nervousness and only an occasional touch of suppressed emotion. Neither Mrs. Doheny nor Mr. Doheny, Jr., was cross-examined.

Voters to Be Tattooed To Check Repeating

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

La Paz, Bolivia, Dec. 9.—A novel idea will be tried at the general municipal elections next Sunday, consisting of permanently tattooing the right hands of the voters. The measure is expected to avoid the common practice of voting several times and unless a remedy is found to blot the tattooing out immediately it may be efficacious and the Bolivian returns may hereafter show a considerable decrease.

STUDENT ORGY REPORTS ROUSE PARENT-TEACHERS

Wild Parties Participated In
by School Children, Says
Mrs. Rafter.

FOUND GIRL UNCONSCIOUS

Aroused to concerted action following reports of drinking orgies and attacks on girls of high school age as an aftermath of midnight parties staged by school children, leaders in the District of Columbia Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations last night sounded what they hope will be the death knell of these affairs, which they say usually break up about the time the milkman is making his rounds.

These parties are participated in for the most part by school children less than 18 years old, according to Mrs. Giles Scott Rafter, president of the local congress of Parent-Teacher associations.

Every Parent-Teacher association in the city will be solicited for support of the plans of parent-teacher leaders to break up these parties which have proved disastrous to the health and morals of several school children recently. Mrs. H. E. Russell, secretary of the local congress, declared.

The first action was taken by the Powell Junior High School Parent-Teacher association when it adopted a resolution presented by Mrs. W. P. Roop, condemning late parties and urging parents of school children to see to it that parties participated in by their children end not later than midnight.

Recently, it was stated at the meeting, a mother and father waited until 2 o'clock in the morning for their daughter to come home from one of these school children parties. When they started out in search for her, the parents nearly stumbled over her, lying unconscious in the vestibule.

"Not all parties staged by school children develop into drinking orgies or are followed by attacks on young girls," Mrs. Russell declared, "but the Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations is going to put a stop to those that do."

Metropolitan "Jinx" Hits a New Singer

New York, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Joseph T. MacPherson, who climbed via minstrel shows from playing sandlot baseball in Nashville, Tenn., to singing opera, has fallen a victim of the much-feared "jinx" of the Metropolitan opera house.

MacPherson was slated to make his operatic debut yesterday as the king in Verdi's "Aida," but was prevented from appearing by a cold that suddenly developed. MacPherson's wife is in a hospital with a fractured hip, the result of a fall recently, and MacPherson was unable to find a taxi cab after visiting her Sunday. He was forced to walk seventeen blocks through snow and slush to his home.

DISPUTE ON MEXICO THROWS WAR CAUSE PARLEY IN DISORDER

Charge of Corruption Stirs Ire of Sister-in-Law of Vice President.

CARLETON BEALS' TALK CAUSE OF OUTBURST

State Department Officials of Three Administrations Are Attacked by Speaker.

The conference on the cause and cure of war, conducted by nine national women's organizations, was thrown into temporary disorder yesterday when Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes, sister-in-law of Vice President Dawes, rose and protested against charges of "corruption and bribery" hurled by one of the speakers against United States officials in their dealings with Mexico.

The tilt came at the close of a diatribe of extreme bitterness by Carleton Beals, principal of the American high school in Mexico City and an author and lecturer, in which he charged United States officials of the State Department for the Wilson, Harding and Coolidge administrations of almost every crime in their transactions with Mexico that diplomacy can involve.

Mrs. Dawes, who represents the General Federation of Women's Clubs, an organization whose slogan is that their members shall strive for peace in peace, time only as loyal Americans, was immediately on her feet. She said:

"In rounding out his speech the speaker has used the expression that he was putting the icing on the cake. As a housekeeper, I should like to say that in place of sugar in the icing he has used arsenic."

As a loyal American citizen I protest against United States officials being charged with corruption and bribery in a meeting at which they are absent, and are neither able to defend themselves, nor have a representative to defend them.

The conference was in an uproar. Mrs. Dawes was informed that she was out of order by the chairman, Mrs. Ida Wise Smith, vice president of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union, presiding at the session. There were cries of "Question! Question!" from the audience. At the close of an hour the delegates were permitted to ask questions of the speaker, and Mrs. Dawes had broken the parliamentary rules, she said, expressly to register her protest.

Mrs. Dawes was surrounded by a number of women who congratulated her and informed her that "I am with you." However, in the meeting her action was answered only by opposition. If not hostility. She left the assembly immediately afterward for a conference with reporters outside, and when she had gone, and the meeting restored to its even tenor, Beals rose and said:

"I thought I had been speaking to an adult audience which would understand that self-criticism is the highest form of patriotism."

When the fire had smoldered down Mrs. David Nathan, of Augusta, Ga., also a member of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, asked Beals what proof he had to substantiate his charges.

Beals admitted that he had depended to a large extent on hearsay. However, he informed Mrs. Nathan, if she would give her name he would send her some information concerning the matters he had mentioned.

Mrs. Dawes explained that when the representatives of the women's organizations agreed to attend the conference it was with the understanding that "all sides would be discussed," whether or not all the delegates agreed with what was presented. However, the conference has shown itself to have a majority of one mind.

Secretary Kellogg Secured.

Beals aimed several shafts at Secretary Kellogg for his Mexican policy. However, his bitter philippic brought in the names of Albert B. Fall, President Wilson, Harding and Coolidge; Charles Evans Hughes, and in particular Henry Lane Wilson, ambassador to Mexico during the early part of the Wilson administration. What he said about Henry Lane Wilson would have satisfied his bitterest enemy. He declared:

"Henry Lane Wilson was an inefficient mediator, charged by certain officials of the Madero regime with having received $50,000 pesos a year from Diaz and having devoted the sum from Madero to help support the American embassy. He trotted to Madero in the most difficult moments of attempting to establish a stable government with every petty claim, British, Chinese, American, most of which have been proven unjust."

"Through false information he succeeded in securing border mobilizations, and stampeded American residents to the frontiers and spilled a river of blood across Mexican history. He worked to overthrow the Madero government and was in close touch with the bloody Huerta and Felix Diaz. When Madero was finally arrested a pact was signed in the American embassy. The new cabinet included a counsel for some 40 American companies."

"Even after the murder of Madero, Henry Lane Wilson clung to the bloody Huerta and attempted through consular channels to stabilize his iniquitous regime. He cabled lies about the crushing of Carranza, even had him flying across the American line, when in actuality he was advancing toward Tampico and was to become the president of the land."

Beals started his invective by stating that American relations with Mexico had been marked by one hundred years of diplomatic shame. He declared that though an American he loved Mexico, and that her culture surpassed the "pulsant nations" toward the north.

Cites Interests of Fall.

"The darkest page of our relations must be written with the Harding administration," he asserted, adding:

"The administration in general was composed of men bitterly hostile to Mexico, among them Senator Fall himself—men who had property interests in Mexico."

"It was Fall who headed, toward the close of the Wilson administration, the Fall committee to investigate Mexico—one of the most shameful acts in the annals of the American republic."

"I went to work with an ear to the keyhole in a spirit of espionage, fault-finding, malevolence and cynicism. Attempting to bring to light every petty occurrence, every crime committed by Mexican officials, every manifestation of anti-American feeling with an obvious purpose of creating international difficulties."

"The Hughes-Fall-Harding combination recognized the most crass this land of the free has ever known, drew up a list of guarantees as a condition of the recognition of the Obregon government."

Beals charged that "this program" was "evolved" through conferences with representatives of "the American Association of Petroleum Producers." The largest companies, he said, are the "anarchical 17 per cent" that have not acceded to the laws of the present Mexican regime. He added that 17 per cent, my friends, represents the investment men who have attempted to rob the American people of their birthright and who have corrupted the highest offices of the government."

He declared that "these gentlemen have not proved more law abiding in Mexico than in the United States."

He charged that the State Department is charged with the duty of protecting the peace of the United States and the peace of Mexico. He made a plea that the United States should not be a party to a war which would cause a government to rise up that would be "bitterly anti-American."

The future course of the United States with Mexico will determine the relationship between this country and all Latin America, he said. The foreign policy of the United States toward Latin America was the subject under discussion.

At the banquet last night addresses were made by Bruce Bliven, of the New Republic magazine, on "The Hate Machine," Willmot H. Lewis, Washington correspondent of the United States Times, on "The War Machine," and E. C. Lindeman, assistant editor of the New Republic magazine, on "The Peace Machine."

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, general chairman, was toastmaster. Questions were asked the speakers. The conference will close today. A series of resolutions are scheduled to be adopted. The delegates will be received by President and Mrs. Coolidge at the White House this afternoon.

WEST END CITIZENS WOULD BAN COUNCIL

Resolution Calls for Federation Committee as Substitute for Advisory Group.

Holding that the citizens' advisory council performs no duties that could not adequately be taken care of by an executive committee of the Federation of Citizens Associations, members of the West End Citizens association, meeting last night in Corcoran hall, recommended that the federation take action abolishing the council.

In presenting the motion Grover W. Ayers termed the advisory council a "star chamber affair," which refuses to grant individual citizens a hearing. Last year, he declared, one-third of the federation's funds were spent by the council in printing its proceedings. The motion as adopted provided for the substitution of an executive committee of the federation in the place of the abolished council.

A resolution was passed by the association commending the postmaster for his cooperation with citizens regarding plans for the distribution of Christmas mail and urging citizens to follow instructions issued by the department. Another resolution recommended that the speed of trucks on New Hampshire avenue between Washington and Dupont circles be decreased to 10 miles an hour, and that the prohibition of their operation before 7 o'clock in the morning.

A total of $21.61 was collected to provide a Christmas fund for the Central Union Mission, George Y. Masson, of Windsor, Ont., spoke.

The board of managers of the Associated Charities at their monthly meeting at 1022 Eleventh street northwest last night adopted a resolution increasing the number of families coming under its care that are ineligible for the grants by the board of public welfare.

During November, 370 families received aid from the association, as compared with 355 for November, 1925, and relief disbursements aggregated an important $23,000. Stephen Talbot, chairman of the district workers reported, Coleman Jennings, chairman, presided.

Charles S. Forbes, 75 years old, 118 Maryland avenue northeast, is in a serious condition in Casualty hospital as the result of being run down by a Washington Railway & Electric Co. street car last night at First street and Maryland avenue northeast. He is suffering from cuts on the head.

Forbes was crossing the street when he was injured. The car was in charge of Motorcarman John G. Cook and Conductor A. A. Padgett. Forbes is under care of Dr. Sindoni, of the hospital staff.

Will Go to Chicago.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Kenneth G. Ormiston, long-sought radio operator in the Aimee McPherson case, was on his way to Chicago tonight in company with Charles Ellwood and Harry Donnelly, Chicago detectives.

This statement was made by Detective Oscar Carson of the local police force, who aided the Chicago authorities last night in the capture of Ormiston at his apartment here. He was traced to this city through a letter.

Carson said that charges of conspiracy would be made against Ormiston on his arrival in Chicago. Ormiston is wanted in Los Angeles on charges of subornation of perjury and conspiracy to defraud.

Carson, while admitting that the trio were Chicago-bound, said he did not know their destination when the men left the Penn-Harris hotel, where they passed the night. The get-away was made in an automobile hired by the Chicago operatives, who refused to divulge their destination to the taxi company. Carson checked for payment for the car. It had not returned early tonight.

Lived as "Lininger."

It was learned that the detectives had purchased tickets for Chicago on the Pennsylvania Limited. However, when the train left here at 4:35 the

Bank Closed 25 Years Pays Another Dividend

Westerly, R. I., Dec. 9 (By A. P.). A bank which was closed by courts in 1901 for "unwise investments" will begin payments tomorrow to its depositors which will raise the total they have received to 114 per cent, with more to come.

Back in 1901 this town was shocked when the doors of the Mechanics Savings Bank, founded in 1840, were closed. "Too much wild cat stock in Oklahoma oil wells and Florida orange groves," was the common talk. But the directors were able to distribute 25 per cent of the deposits four months after the closing, 25 per cent more in 18 months and then dribbles of 5 and 10 per cent at intervals until the investors had recovered every cent of their money, and 10 cents on the dollar as premium.

The well and groves produced. The two surviving directors, Ira B. Crandall and Thomas Nichols, voted a distribution of $300,000 beginning tomorrow, from the proceeds of the oil lands.

stateroom and lower berth which had been engaged were unoccupied. Ormiston had been living here under the name of "F. Lininger," and was accompanied by two detectives and they were positive of their identification.

He said he had been in Harrisburg about two months, and had come here from Atlantic City. He expressed anxiety to get back to Chicago, and this statement appeared to have been borne out by the fact that no extradition papers were requested of Gov. Pinchot.

Although Chief of Police Joseph Thompson was called into a conference with the detectives on his arrival at the police station today, he said he knew little of the case except that the men were headed for Chicago.

"Ormiston was not under arrest," he said, "and that is the reason the case was not handled directly through the police station." He added that the secrecy maintained on Ormiston's detention was the "usual thing." From the time the radio operator was taken to the hotel he was not allowed to communicate with any one except the officers, so far as is known.

Means Nothing to Aimee.

Los Angeles, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—The arrest in Harrisburg, Pa., of Kenneth G. Ormiston, long-sought radio operator, means nothing to Aimee McPherson, pastor of the Four Square Gospel church here.

"There is no significance in Mr. Ormiston's arrest as far as I am concerned," Mrs. McPherson declared today when she was informed that the missing principal in her disappearance case was in custody.

"What the State does in his case has no bearing on mine," she said. "I know nothing about him, so what can I say?"

Ormiston was charged jointly with the Angelus temple pastor and others with conspiracy to defraud justice as the outcome of the reappearance of Mrs. McPherson at Agua Prieta, Sonora, Mexico, in June, after she was supposedly drowned at Ocean Park, Calif., last May. He was alleged to have played a prominent part in her mysterious disappearance.

21 KILLED, 30 HURT, 5 TRAPPED AS MINE IS ROCKED BY BLAST

Flames Drive Rescue Crews From the Workings at Princeton, Ind.

BURNS MAY BE FATAL FOR SOME OF INJURED

71 Men, Beginning the Day's Work, Entombed by Explosion; Only Few Escape.

Princeton, Ind., Dec. 9 (By A. P.). Fire in the south entry of the Francisco Coal Co.'s No. 2 mine, in which 21 men were killed today and 5 are still entombed, tonight drove rescue crews from the shaft.

Seven men were rescued alive from a heretofore unexplored entry tonight, but one of them, Ollie Rohl, of Evansville, died before he reached the hospital.

It was in the entry adjoining the one from which the seven men were rescued that the fire broke out, augmenting the disaster which occurred at 6:30 this morning when an explosion, of undetermined origin, entombed 71 men in the 500-foot shaft as they, the first contingent of the 400 men employed in the mine, went down at the beginning of the day shift.

An emergency hospital was established at the mine washroom and physicians and nurses were summoned from Princeton. After first aid treatment was given the more seriously injured were rushed in ambulances to the Methodist hospital here. Most of those rescued suffered severe burns about the face and chest. In their efforts to care for the injured rescue workers did not stop to record the dead and it was several hours before even an approximation of the death toll was available.

Relatives Join the Roads.

Word of the accident spread rapidly and roads leading to the mine were jammed with relatives of the workmen. It was necessary for officials and miners to organize traffic squads as well as rescue squads.

As the victims were brought from the mine mouth, veteran workmen stood at the top of the shaft, warning the trapped men to cover their faces to escape pneumonia through exposure.

Representatives of the State and Federal mining inspectors had not yet reached the scene about noon, but refused to make a statement on the cause of the explosion until further study. It was believed at first the blast was due to gas fumes, but this was discarded by officials and employees of the mine, who said it apparently was a dust explosion.

Shaft Partly Blocked
The mine shaft was partly blocked by debris, but there was sufficient opening to permit the work of rescue without digging.

Today was damp and dismal, with a cold wind chilling the hundreds of relatives and onlookers who pressed close to the roped-off area around the mine mouth.

The Francisco mine No. 2 is about three years old, and this was its first accident. The mine is equipped with modern safety devices and apparently the explosion was not due to neglect.

Planes and Tractors Aid Hunt for Woman
Guilford, Surrey, Eng., Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Airplanes and caterpillar tractors today assisted in a renewal of the search for Agatha Christie, the American novelist, who disappeared on the Surrey Down late last week. The search was discontinued Tuesday, when it was reported that the missing woman had been heard from. Walking only a few feet apart, 500 policemen moved out in a huge net across the lone downs on which it is believed Mrs. Christie may have wandered.

While airplanes flew overhead, caterpillar trucks were used to clear a path for the searchers.

French Deputies Vote Budget With Surplus
Paris, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—For the first time in many years the chamber of deputies, driven by Premier Poincare, has voted a budget with a substantial surplus before the end of the year. The chamber on December 4 adopted the appropriations section of the budget, and tonight adopted by 410 to 135 the revenue section, which involves no new taxes.

The budget embraces the following figures: Expenditures, 39,684,408,000 francs; revenue, 40,900,160,000 francs; surplus, 464,752,000 francs.

The senate will take up the budget tomorrow.

LEAGUE TO WRITE U.S. TO TAKE PART IN 2 CONFERENCES

Session on Private Arms Manufacture Called For Next Fall.

OFFICIALS HERE SILENT; PUT BAN ON DEBTS TALK

Ambassadors' Council Fails to Reach Agreement on German Control.

Geneva, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—The United States government soon will be invited to collaborate in two League Nations activities—an international economic conference May 4, 1927 and an international conference on the supervision of the private manufacture of arms.

The league council today voted to convene this special arm conference in the autumn of 1927, provided the general disarmament conference, which has been authorized, is held over until the next year.

Both the United States and Russia will be invited to sit with representatives of the league states on the council, which will act as a commission to prepare the draft of a convention on the private manufacture of arms and will be asked also to the autumn conference itself.

U. S. Aid Is Stressed.

The tenor of today's discussion indicated that the council attaches importance to participation by the United States, thus duplicating its collaboration in the successful conference on the control of the traffic in arms.

The report, which was adopted, declares that the council bases its hope that the United States will participate in the conference on the private manufacture of arms on formal statements made by representatives of the United States at the conference on traffic in arms. League officials said afterward that this was an allusion to a remark made by the American delegate, Theodore E. Burton, that the United States would willingly join in a convention which will compel arms producing states to publish statistics concerning the production of arms, munitions and the implements of war.

Producing states would be at no disadvantage as compared with manufacturing states.

The definite selection of Geneva instead of Amsterdam for the economic conference means that the league will not permit the abstention of Russia, which has refused to take part in deliberations on Swiss soil since the assassination of the soviet envoy, Vorovsky, at Lausanne in 1925.

German Faith Doubted.

Paris, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Germany's fulfillment of its treaty obligations under the Versailles treaty or her disposition to carry them out at present is apparently doubtful to the allied council of ambassadors, who are expected to discuss this question. The council adjourned until tomorrow after a session lasting two and a half hours instead of reaching the expected agreement to recommend turning over control to the League of Nations.

Marshal Foch was summoned before the council, and Sheldon Whitehead, counselor of the American embassy, represented the United States. The council considered the predominating military conduct of German civilian associations; they supported the Polish case for the construction of a new railway line through the Polish territory, which was considered the predominant military conduct of German civilian associations; they supported the Polish case for the construction of a new railway line through the Polish territory, which was considered the predominant military conduct of German civilian associations.

OUT IN FEDERAL TAX SCORED BY MELLON

Annual Report Declares Surplus Should Be Returned to Public as Future Credit.

TEST OF PRESENT LAW JUST STARTED, HE SAYS

Warns That Expenditures of Government Have Reached Low Level.

There must be no reduction in the Federal taxes at this time, Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon told Congress in his annual report, submitted yesterday.

Estimating a surplus of $350,000,000 at the end of the current year, the Secretary said the surplus and whatever surplus may be accumulated next year should be returned to the taxpayers in the form of a credit on their future tax payments.

Preceding his objection to reduced taxes at present, however, the Secretary drew a picture of a prosperous nation and predicted a continuation of existing prosperity.

He described the present tax law as "a new law to which the test of actual experience just has begun to be applied," adding that the law is "a test of the government's ability to pay for its war-time expenditures and the necessity of putting our sole reliance for government revenue on a class of current taxes which are peculiarly susceptible to large variations," and should there come a decline in our general taxable income, business would be hard by the consequent necessary increase in taxation. He warned that governmental expenditures have reached their low level and there is little prospect of further material reductions for the next several years.

Asks Credit on March 15.

There is not time, Mr. Mellon told Congress, to enact legislation providing for a return of the tax-gathered surplus to the taxpayers to cover the payments due Wednesday, but provision for the same must be made at the time to cover the payment due March 15, next. The credit would apply against all income taxes, both individual and corporate, which are due and payable in the first six months of the calendar year of 1927, which are the last six months of the fiscal year. He proposed a credit of 30 per cent.

The strength of the nation's prosperity, Mr. Mellon said, reposed in the broadness of its base, and he declared that while there have been and hereafter may be some lines which do not share in the general prosperity, there is little danger of any general depression.

The Florida land boom, he said, "subsidized without serious injury" a bumper cotton crop has lowered prices to producers, but these low prices in turn will be of aid to the textile industry, and a program for one-half marketing of the crop will prevent disaster to the growers; there has been improvement in the bituminous coal industry; in general, Secretary Mellon said, there is a widespread prosperity extending to all sections of the country.

He warned against the output of which may not be consumed as rapidly as produced. Banks should not fall into the error of siding aside of these products by too long terms, he said.

Defends Installment Buying.

He defended the widespread installment buying as having permitted public consumption of products as they were produced, and declared that while there has been widespread spending in this and other manners there also has been satisfactory increase in the money which the American people are saving for the future.

The "most notable improvement has been the restoration of the railroads to their proper place in the community," he said, adding that "the railroads constitute one of the principal factors in the strength of this country."

The foreign debt settlements apparently are regarded as a closed book so far as the Treasury is concerned, the report resumed. The Treasury will take no action to continue the life of the debt funding commission which will expire in the year 1928, he said, so long as they are productive and sound, should meet with approval.

Investments Total $1,400,000.

Investments held for the account of the District Teachers' retirement fund at the end of the fiscal year had a total face value of $1,429,040, the principal cost of which was $1,399,221.53. The Secretary reported that the fund had a surplus of $29,818.47.

Deductions from salaries for the fund in the last fiscal year amounted to $263,919.72, bringing the total since January 15, 1920, to $1,410,126.04.

Into the civil service retirement fund in the last fiscal year, Secretary Mellon said, annuities, refunds and other payments in the course of the year totaled $10,275,000 and investments for the fund totaled $10,872,854.96, leaving an unexpended balance at the end of the year of $570,085.73.

MOVE TO REINSTATE INSURGENTS HITS SNAG

House Committee Sentiment Refuses to Agree on Nelson's Appointment.

(By the Associated Press.)

The move to reinstate Republican insurgents of the House in the party fold ran into a snag yesterday at a meeting of the Republican committee on committees, which a year ago banished them from important posts on committees.

Although insurgent and administration leaders were hopeful of a peaceful settlement of their difficulties, they encountered an opposing trend of sentiment in the committee, which refused to agree to appoint Representative Nelson, of Wisconsin, the insurgent leader, to the chairmanship of the pensions committee.

Members of the committee on committees demanded more information on the present degree of insurgency among the banished members and the effect the appointment of Nelson would have on the status of other insurgents. The question precipitated a somewhat extended discussion, and the committee meeting broke up without action. Another meeting will be held next week.

Administration leaders had indicated they desired giving the pensions chairmanship to Nelson for his long service on the committee and without extracting any measure from him as to future party regularity. This committee post became vacant through the death of Representative Fuller, of Illinois.

TREATY TO BAN GAS DISCUSSED IN SENATE

Wadsworth and Tyson Challenge Borah, Who Favors Adoption of Agreement.

(By the Associated Press.)

The Geneva treaty to ban poison-gas warfare, favored by the State Department but opposed by the American Legion and other organizations, was taken up yesterday by the Senate in open session.

Senator Borah of the foreign relations committee urged favorable action on the protocol, but his position was challenged by Chairman Wadsworth of the military committee. He questioned Borah's statement that the War Department favored the treaty, declaring gas was the least cruel of all war weapons and added:

"When war breaks out treaties and conventions perish." Senator Tyson, Democrat, Tennessee, who commanded a division overseas, called gas warfare "the most humane and effective of all weapons," and said experts in the War Department would consider ratification of the Geneva treaty unfavorable.

W. B. Sear, radio operator, took off from Panama field at 7 p. m. and flew to the Canal zone, where they landed at 11 p. m., making the round trip in an hour and a half.

TRIO HELD IN ALLEGED RUM RUNNER'S DEATH

Girl and Man Say Victim Was Hurt in Fall From an Automobile.

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 9 (By A. P.). Robert Seapark and Evelyn Britt, of Durham, late today were held responsible by a coroner's jury for the death of L. C. (Mighty) Forsyth, alleged rum runner. Seapark and the girl, who were arrested some time ago, were ordered bound over to the Johnston county grand jury without bail. Shepherson, the girl has been freed on $5,000 bail since the day after the killing.

Forsyth was brought to a Raleigh hospital late the night of November 27 by a falling station operator living several miles from Raleigh, who said an automobile with two men and a woman had driven to his place and asked that he bring Forsyth to a hospital here, saying the automobile was out of gasoline. The man was dead when he arrived. Seapark was arrested the next day.

Roosevelt Stadium BILL OFFERED BY FISH

Measure Would Name Group to Locate Site in Potomac Park.

A bill providing for a commission to study the proposed erection of a stadium at Roosevelt was introduced in the House yesterday by Representative Fish, of New York.

The commission would be composed of the presiding officers of the House and Senate, the chairman of the respective building and grounds committees and the director of public buildings and parks. It would be charged with ascertaining if there is a site for a stadium to accommodate 100,000 persons in Potomac park, determination of the design, the approximate cost and with cooperation with organizations and individuals interested in the erection of a Roosevelt memorial. An appropriation of $10,000 would be authorized to meet the expenses of this work.

Fish originally had planned to introduce a measure calling for erection of the stadium. A bill of this nature was introduced by Representative Gallivan, of New York.

FARMERS CREDITED WITH AGGRESSIVE ADVANCE BY JARDINE

However, They Can Not Do All in Sound Reconstruction, He Declares.

FIGHT AGAINST TARIFF UNWISE, REPORT SAYS

Rates According to Cost Declared Inapplicable to Products of Soil.

(By the Associated Press.)

Agriculture unquestionably is on the upward grade, as a result, in a large measure, of the intelligence, energy and determination of the farmers, Secretary Jardine said yesterday in his annual report.

Everything necessary for reconstruction on a sound footing can not be done by the farmers themselves though, Jardine declared, and the industry is entitled to assistance from other groups of the community and from the nation. He advanced no new plan for farm relief.

"Further moderate improvement in the agricultural situation as a whole has taken place during the last year," he said, "but the certain regions have suffered reverses, notably the cotton States, whose principal crop, produced in exceptional abundance, is selling at very low prices. Parts of the spring wheat States have harvested a poor crop.

DOUBTFUL ON COTTON CROP

"Unfortunately, the recent slump in cotton prices makes it doubtful whether the crop year of 1926 and 1927 will carry forward the story of improvement at the rate established in the last few years."

Under terms of resolution by Senator Harris, of Georgia, Secretary of Commerce, the report on development of new uses for cotton and cotton products, the report on the cotton industry, proposed amendment to immigration law under which wives and minor children of aliens already here, who have been in the country for more than a year, may be admitted regardless of quotas.

Senator Smoot, of Utah, introduced a bill appropriating $25,000,000 for acquisition of all land within the Mall and Pennsylvania avenue triangle for public buildings and announced he would address the Senate upon the subject today.

William Wilson, defeated Democratic candidate for senator in Pennsylvania, conferred with Democratic leaders on the question of a contest against William S. Vare, senator-elect.

U. S. CALLED LAGGARD IN FIGHTING VESSELS

Behind Other Nations Signing of Arms Treaties, Hepburn Says.

(By the Associated Press.)

Testimony that the United States has lagged behind other nations in signing fighting craft for its navy since the Washington arms treaties were signed was given by House naval committee yesterday by Capt. A. J. Hepburn, who said Great Britain, Japan and France had outstripped this country in new construction.

While the United States has a total of 16 ships built and building since the treaties, Great Britain has 27, Japan 10, France 16 and Italy 16, he said. The unadorned expression that in his opinion not more than a half dozen of America's fleet of submarines are "worth a damn" was made by Representative Britten, of Illinois, ranking Republican on the committee.

Testimony showed that out of 121 submarines listed on the navy's register, 45 are completely out of commission, he said. Of the remainder, 62 were described by him as being of the "mule" type. "Will they float?" he asked Capt. Hepburn. "Yes," he answered, "but added that several of them were not capable of sea duty with the fleet."

GALLIVAN DENIGES 'PLUNDERING' OF LAW 'PLUNDERING'

Declares Himself Against Wheeler and "Wastrels," Opening House Wet Fight.

HITS ANTISALOON LEAGUE ASSAILED BY FARM BLOC

The United States should stop turning over money to "Wheeler and his plunderers" and save it to combat the real menace in Mexico, Representative Gallivan (Democrat), Massachusetts, declared yesterday in the session of the House.

Representatives Griffin and O'Connor, of New York, and Connelly, of Massachusetts, joined with Mr. Gallivan in the assault, and met as usual with the defense of Representative Blanton, of Texas, now joined by Representative Luce, of Massachusetts.

Describing the Antisaloons league as a "pious panhandler and a persistent plunderer, aided and abetted by as many as thirty gang of congressional lobbyists as ever busted a brewery or sacked a distillery," Mr. Gallivan declared he was against further "plundering" of the Treasury.

Already we have sacrificed almost a billion dollars in this task of Sisyphus in legitimate taxation and we will be asked to spend one hundred millions in fleets and armies, catchpots and in-pumps, spies and money snatchers.

"The time coming," Mr. Gallivan continued, "when we shall need all the money the taxpayer is sweating, for south of Rio Grande the storm is brewing and it is brewing with the aid of the very elements that have engineered prohibition in this country."

Wheeler and his wastrels, his crooks and his wasters, his crooks and bootleggers. * * * Compared with Wheeler and his practical partners, Morgan, the industrialist, Cox, Kildick Turpin, Jesse James and the Chicago machine gangsters appear as honest, modest gentlemen."

Representative Luce cited his reelection as evidence that Massachusetts had not bowed to the wets.

Most fathers will feel a lot more like Santa Claus after they have looked over the proposed constitutional amendments under Holiday Hints in The Washington Post.

In the letter which Neal, who was one of the leading forces in the 1924-25 election fight and a defeated candidate for governor this year, laid before the committee on privileges and elections, he charged, collectively, the amount of money spent in Tyson's behalf in Tennessee was greater than that used for election expenses of the two most illustrious Senators under the Washington Post.

There was no indication either on the part of Senator Dill or any of his Democratic colleagues when the resolution would be passed, ever, but the investigation of the Tennessee situation would startle the nation.

The Dill resolutions, submitted by the Washington senator in the course of a lengthy prepared address, served in effect to place before this entire session for unlimited debate the case of the two most illustrious Senators under the Washington Post.

GREY MAY BE LEADER OF ASQUITH LIBERALS

Group Refuses to Support
Lloyd George; His Expulsion Is Demanded.

FUNDS BEING PROMISED

London, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Viscount Grey of Falholde, who as Sir Edward Grey was secretary for foreign affairs at the outbreak of the great war, is spoken of as leader of that section of the liberal party over which the Earl of Oxford and Asquith held sway until he withdrew from the leadership of the party about a year ago.

It is announced by the Evening Standard that Viscount Grey will accept, if assured of adequate support. This would indicate that former Premier Lloyd George, the parliamentary leader, is still the center of fierce animosities in the party ranks.

Mr. Lloyd-George, by his control of huge funds, holds the power of the purse. He has offered to use these funds to the party's advantage, but only on condition that he be allowed to completely reorganize the party's headquarters staff, whereby he would be enabled to nominate candidates of his own choice at the next general elections.

The Asquithian faction, including those numerous leaders who joined in the movement to read Lloyd-George out of the party after the recent general election, refused to give this complete power to him. A dinner is to be given in honor of Vivian Phillips, the Asquithian chief organizer, next Monday, at which it is supposed Lord Grey will be offered the leadership, but Gray's action will entirely depend on the amount of support he can count on, and Lloyd-George is still a great power with possibly a majority of the liberals of the country.

Mr. Lloyd-George will start Friday for a month's holiday on the Riviera, and there is much annoyance among the Asquithians at his leaving London at a time when the party is heatedly arguing as to whether it should accept his offer for the use of funds. Report has it that $50,000 has already been subscribed to finance the Gray faction, and it is rumored that Lord Cowdray is offering to provide the party with election funds, but only on condition of the total exclusion of Lloyd-George from the party.

23 Rum Defendants In Dwyer Case Freed

New York, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Indictments against 23 of the 61 persons indicted with William V. Dwyer, so-called "bootleg king," for violation of the prohibition laws were quashed today at the request of the United States attorney's office.

MARCONI ANNULMENT WILL BE IN SECRET

Inventor and Wife Would Avoid Publicity Like That Given Marlborough Case.

Rome, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—The sacred rota tribunal, on the request of interested parties, has decided that the entire proceedings for annulment of the marriage of William Marconi, the wireless inventor and the former Miss Beatrice O'Brien, shall be carried out under a seal of secrecy.

This decision is understood to have been reached on the request of Signor Marconi and his former wife in order to avoid the unwelcome notoriety which attended the recent Marlborough-Vanderbilt annulment.

Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, forwarded to the holy rota last month the Marconi annulment proceedings investigated and recommended by the archdiocese of Westminster. The cause lies in a condition established between Marconi and his wife, who is a daughter of the fourteenth Baron Inchiquin, before their wedding in 1905, that they could separate whenever they so wished. Marriage being held by the Catholic Church indissoluble, such a condition would make the Marconi marriage null in fact.

ILLNESS DRIVES 2 WOMEN TO SUICIDE AT HOTELS

Actress Governor Strong, of Federal Reserve Bank, Aided, Dies by Poison.

FALL KILLS MRS. HEWITT

New York, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Ill health sent two women of 25 to suicidal deaths today, one jumping from a window and the other swallowing poison. Suffering from a nervous disorder, Mrs. Louise Vanderbilt Hewitt, daughter of William Jay Schleffelin, and descendant of John Jay, first Chief Justice of the United States, opened a window of her sixth-floor apartment and leaped out. She died a few hours later in a hospital.

Miss Dorothy Smoller, motion picture actress, swallowed poison in her room in the Shelton hotel. Letters in her room revealed she had tuberculosis. One letter to her mother, Mrs. Rose Smoller, of Long Beach, Calif., told of "pains all the time."

Another letter, addressed to Benjamin Strong, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, simply concerned the return of a photograph. A statement given out at the office of Mr. Strong said that in 1923 he was a patient at a sanitarium in Colorado Springs suffering from tuberculosis of the throat and that Miss Smoller was there at the same time.

Mr. Strong, it continued, became unable to see visitors. It was announced that Miss Smoller as "he has interested himself in many fellow-sufferers from the disease. He gave her financial assistance from time to time and had her examined by his personal physician."

Mr. Strong has been ill at home of bronchial pneumonia since early in October and is confined to his bed unable to see visitors. It was announced that Miss Smoller came to New York just about a month ago, and it is obvious they have not seen each other in that time.

Mr. Strong is 55 and has two grown children. It seems needless to assert his interest in Miss Smoller was simply what might be called sympathetic philanthropy. Mrs. Hewitt had been under treatment in Dr. Riggs' sanitarium in Stockbridge, N. Y., until three days ago. Her husband, Abram S. Hewitt, is a graduate of Oxford, and is studying law at Columbia university. He is the grandson of Abram S. Hewitt, a former mayor of New York, and a great-grandson of Peter Cooper, philanthropist, who founded Cooper Union.

Rockefeller Homes Put in Business Area

New York, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—The fingers of business today closed more firmly around the town dwelling districts of the Rockefeller family.

The board of estimate, by unanimous vote, changed to a business district the heretofore fashionable residence block of West Fifty-fifth street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues. Mrs. Alta Rockefeller Prentice, John D. Rockefeller's daughter, owns property in that block. Counsel for the Rockefellers opposed the change. The town dwelling of John D. Rockefeller is at 4 West Fifty-fourth street, and his son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., resides at 10 West Fifty-fourth street, a block away.

Emperor Yoshihito Develops Pneumonia

Tokyo, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Emperor Yoshihito shows symptoms of bronchial pneumonia in his right lung, said a bulletin issued tonight by the household department.

The emperor, who has been ill many years, developed bronchial trouble several weeks ago. He has been constantly attended by the Empress Sadako. Despite the efforts of a corps of physicians, his condition became worse.

The emperor has suffered from an affliction dating from infancy. Because of his illness Crown Prince Hirohito was appointed regent in November, 1921.

FIRESTONE RUBBER PACT IS RATIFIED BY LIBERIA

to Be Pushed to Raise 200,000 Tons Yearly.

HARBOR DREDGING STARTS

Akron, Ohio, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Harvey Firestone's $100,000,000 Liberian rubber growing project has received final ratification by the Liberian congress and will be pushed to completion immediately along lines already laid out. It was announced here tonight by officials of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

With the approval of President C. B. King, and Secretary of State Edwin Barclay, of the West African republic, two Firestone expeditions already have entered the country and have started harbor and sanitary improvements at Monrovia, the Liberian capital, preparatory to actual plantation work in the jungle.

Under the terms of the tentative agreement with the Liberian government, made a year ago and formally ratified yesterday, Firestone receives a 99-year lease on 1,000 acres of land most suitable for crude rubber production and upon 2,000 acres planted sixteen years ago and now in full production.

The cost of reclaiming the African jungle will be a minimum of $100 an acre or $100,000,000, Firestone estimates. To operate the development will require, he says, the services of 350,000 native laborers, who should be able to make the 1,000,000 acres produce approximately 200,000 tons of rubber annually, or 50 per cent of the total amount produced today.

Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., who has been many months in Liberia organizing and planning the work there is on his way home to report as head of the Firestone Plantations Co., Ltd.

A. Mitchell Palmer Indorses Gov. Smith

Miami Beach, Fla., Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—A. Mitchell Palmer, former United States Attorney General, arrived here today from Washington for a short vacation and made an outspoken commendation for Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, as a Democratic presidential candidate.

"Al Smith today stands out as the foremost statesman in American life. He must be nominated if the Democratic party hopes to regain its power. If he is nominated, he surely will be elected," he declared.

Former Gov. James M. Cox, one time Democratic standard bearer, arrived here today from Dayton, Ohio, on a brief visit.

DEFAULTER, SHORT $105,000, GIVES UP

Memphis Bank Clerk Blames
Assistant Cashier, Who Killed Himself.

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Rush P. Parke, confessed defaulter, went back to the city jail tonight after a day passed in the offices of the American Savings Bank & Trust Co., where he aided State bank examiners to straighten accounts thrown into confusion by his flight last Thursday and the suicide of Clarence Henochberg, assistant cashier, Tuesday.

Parke, bookkeeper in the bank, surrendered to police here early today, declaring that Henochberg's influence had been responsible for his illegal acts and that he himself had received but a paltry part of the $105,000 shortage which examiners found in his accounts. Belief of authorities that Parke was the tool of the assistant cashier was strengthened by the prisoner's statement to police that he had made improper entries in his books at Henochberg's direction for some time before realizing that such conduct was illegal, and thereafter he realized the gravity of his predicament and feared to rebel at his superior's bidding. The American Savings Bank & Trust Co., shaken by the shortage admitted by Parke and the shortage of $300,000 confessed by Henochberg before he shot himself, was in the hands of S. S. McConnell, State superintendent of banks, as receiver today.

THE FARM RELIEF PROGRAM.

By committing the American Farm Bureau Federation to the policy of tariff reduction, the moving spirits of the federation have induced Southern cotton growers to support the farm relief proposal as modified at Chicago. The chief actor in this particular comedy is Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois. He was hailed as a champion by the Chicago agrarians, and on every lip trembled the slogan, "Lowden for President!"

How many cotton growers are now cooperating with the corn and hog cohorts is not yet disclosed, but it is said that a quiet movement is on foot in Congress to line up all Southern legislators in favor of the new farm relief bill. The Southern Democrats are now advised that Western Republicans will cooperate with them in smashing the tariff, under the banner of Frank Lowden.

Politics makes strange bedfellows, but the oddest bed of all is that which includes Western Republicans and Southern Democrats, with Frank Lowden as nurse. Birds in their little nests are supposed to agree, but if these birds can remain in agreement they will astonish the universe. Of course, the common desire to get a big appropriation is a powerful incentive to agreement, but when the time comes for them to agree upon items of tariff reduction the nest will not be big enough to hold them.

The cotton growers may think that they represent the South, but the South is becoming an industrial region, and strong industries there may interpose a decided objection to being sacrificed for the benefit of the cotton growers. It is noticeable that the tariff becomes a local question instantly when a Southern industry is affected. Democrats of the South favor reduction of the tariff on Northern industrial products, but when products of their own section are under consideration they agree with the sentiments expressed by the Hon. Tom Heflin—or was it the immortal Pat Harrison?—"While the pie is going around I want my share."

The farm bureau scheme of providing for farm relief by a Treasury appropriation and by cutting down tariff protection on industrial products will be presented soon in Congress. The country will be asked to believe that agriculture will perish unless manufactures are deprived of protection. It will perish, also, unless farm relief is financed by the Treasury. The surplus of $333,000,000 would be just about right for farm relief. Then, with the tariff cut off of loaded American industries, the farmers would be enabled to buy cheaply from foreigners. Thus, by direct subsidy and by tariff favoritism, the farmers might manage to keep afloat.

Well, if the American Farm Bureau Federation feels that it can put through such a program, the sooner it makes the attempt and recovers from its hallucination the better for the cause of genuine farm relief.

MOTION PICTURES IN SURGERY.

A movement started at the meeting of the American College of Surgeons in Montreal on October 29 may have a world-wide effect upon the practice of surgery. Yesterday in Rochester, N. Y., a committee appointed at the Montreal meeting met in consultation with Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers' Association, the officials of the School of Medicine of the University of Rochester, N. Y., together with Dr. Charles H. Mayo, the eminent surgeon of Rochester, Minn., and George Eastman, founder and head of one of the largest camera manufacturing companies in the world. The object of this gathering was to devise means whereby the celluloid film and the screen may be brought to the aid of the teachers of the art of healing.

Heretofore experiments in this direction have failed of success through the inability of the photographers to control the light effects during delicate operations. But Mr. Eastman, to whose philanthropy is largely due the establishment of the medical department of the university of his home town, has agreed to place his laboratory and his entire force, so far as necessary, at the service of the surgeons. Mr. Hays, for the motion picture people, has extended his hearty cooperation, with the result that it is confidently predicted that the study of medicine and surgery will receive powerful aid.

The idea behind the movement is that the use of slow motion pictures in color will be of inestimable value in the education of medical students, especially in the surgical classes. Delicate operations performed by the surgeons in a clinic can be witnessed and understood only by a very small section of the student body gathered around the operating table, and of course such operations can not be repeated for the enlightenment of the student. It is the purpose of the teachers of surgery, with the cooperation of Mr. Eastman and Mr. Hays, to endeavor to reproduce, in all their minor details, all the movements of these delicate operations on the films; and with the use of machines, keyed down to the slowest possible motion, to throw the picture upon the screens, as often as may be necessary for the benefit of the classes. To the student who has tried to follow the movements of the scalpel in the hands of a skillful surgeon, who must of necessity work with the utmost celerity, this opportunity to make repeated examination of the movements, slowed down so as to be plainly perceptible, should prove of inestimable value. The resulting improvement in the practice of surgery may be a godsend to humanity.

THE DEMOCRATIC OPPORTUNITY.

Now that the Democratic leaders know just what the President desires in the way of legislation for the welfare of the country there is no reason why they can not prepare their batteries for an attack all along the line. The mere fact that many of the suggestions of Mr. Coolidge are in exact line with their own desires in the way of congressional activities need not, and probably will not, serve to silence the barrage of oratory in opposition.

The policy of the minority is that of the immigrant who was unable to say what he was "for," but was determined at all hazards to be "ag" in the gov'm't." Of course the Democratic party in Congress favors tax relief, but the plan proposed does not please them. Every one in that party will declare himself as favorable to the upbuilding of the merchant marine, but the Coolidge idea in that direction differs with those of his political opponents, as a matter of course.

There may be a division of opinion as to strengthening prohibition enforcement laws, but most of the Democrats, especially those from New York State, will have difficulty in shaping their plans so as to aid in that program in view of the result of the referendum. If the President expects united Democratic support for his antilyching bill he is certainly doomed to disappointment, nor is there likely to be a line-up in favor of the suggestion that appropriations for the support of the government be made biennially instead of annually.

The President has laid out a program which would require many more months than are available during the short session to enact into law, even if the entire Congress should support his policies. In a session of twelve weeks it is impossible of accomplishment. But the opposition will not be likely to neglect the opportunity afforded to produce much literature antagonistic to each recommendation, all for home consumption. Out of the clash of opinion there will be some information forthcoming, but probably also a lot of darkened counsel, tinged with politics. At this particular time the voter would do well to remember that both big parties are discussing public questions in their relation to political advantage, and not necessarily on their merits.

HOT DOG.

The Coney Island Barker who first designated as "hot dog" a frankfurter or the wiener, encased in a roll or a kiewitick, could not have dreamed that a day would come when the high court of justice of England, sitting in chambers, would be called upon to decide the question as to whom the right to use that name has accrued within the kingdom of Great Britain.

Yet that day is here, and a learned jurist, Mr. Justice Clauson, has been called upon to decide the momentous query. Possibly it was during a tour of the United States, along the tin-can trail between the Hudson and the Golden Gate, that Messrs Levy & Franks, Ltd., noticed everywhere the sign "Hot Dogs." They are licensed caterers with some 35 places of refreshment in the city of London and the provinces. On May 13, 1925, a certificate of registration of "Hot Dogs" as a "trade-mark in Class 42 in respect to sandwiches" was granted to Messrs Levy & Franks under the merchandise marks act. They began the manufacture and sale of the sandwiches upon the approved American formula at the George and Dragon in Shaftesbury Road W., and had arranged to sell them at football matches and other outdoor entertainments. But on October 13, 1926, exactly seventeen months to a day after the registration of their trade-mark, the plaintiffs learned that a rival concern had incorporated itself under the name of "Hot Dogs, Limited" and that this company announced its determination to engage in the manufacture and sale of hot dogs, thereby threatening to encroach on the rights and to reduce the receipts of the plaintiffs. Levy & Franks ask the high court of justice to grant an interim injunction to prevent defendants from selling sandwiches under the name of "hot dogs" or from using the title in any way until the trial of the cause in a court of competent jurisdiction.

Mr. Justice Clauson is not given to hasty decisions in matters of such gravity. He decided that, as the case was presented as an ex parte cause, a short notice should be given before he would care to take the responsibility of granting the injunction.

Owing to the long period of time which has elapsed since the first hot dog barked on the boardwalk at Coney it is not likely that the affair will assume an international aspect, but it would seem that the originator of the super-heated canine missed his chance when he failed to register his trade-mark in the patent office and in Stationer's Hall, London. A world monopoly of hot dogs would yield a neat net income, don't you know.

BRITISH LABORITE DEFEAT.

The vote taken on Wednesday last on a motion of censure on the government proposed by Ramsay MacDonald in the British house of commons shows that the members of that body are in no mood, as yet at all events, to listen to any suggestion of "an appeal to the country." MacDonald sought to have it declared that the policy pursued by the government during what he called the "lockout" in the mining industry is regrettable, and that the government is deserving of censure for its disregard of the findings of the royal commission for its partiality toward the mine owners, for its failure to control the price of coal and for passing the coal mines act, which, in the words of the resolution, "resulted in the imposition of harsh terms upon men no longer able to resist." The motion also contained a clause for the nationalization of the mining industry as the only means of securing for all miners a decent standard of living and a living wage.

In the course of a spirited debate MacDonald said that he and his associates were anxious to test by the ballot box whether the nation would like to carry their censure motion, and instanced recent by-elections, which had turned out unfavorably to the conservatives, as proof that the country is not behind the party in power. It was reported that the ranks of labor were by no means unanimous as to the advisability of the censure motion, and Premier Baldwin scored a neat point in his reply to the attack by asserting that the labor party was on the horns of a dilemma, "as it has either to throw in its lot with the extremists or cut loose from them." What he meant by an extremist he illustrated by quoting A. J. Cook, the miners' leader, as saying that he was "a humble disciple of Lenin" and that he was "out for revolution." Baldwin met the ballot box suggestion by asserting that he was quite prepared to go to the country "in good time."

His argument told so decisively that the motion of censure was defeated by a vote of 339 to 131. Apparently the hold of the conservatives on office is still unshaken.

THE SOAP OUTPUT.

Just how many tons of soap were used by the American people during the fiscal year 1925 will probably never be definitely known. But the manufacturers of that essential who reported to the census office their activities for 1925 make returns aggregating 2,018,568,000 pounds of hard soap, besides nearly three-quarters of a billion more pounds in the form of soap powder, cleansing soap, liquid soap paste and soft soap. The total value of the soap produced by the factories reporting, and there were 266 of these establishments, was $229,948,291. In the making of which wages to the amount of more than $18,000,000 were paid.

Besides soap for external use the 266 factories turned out more than 25,000,000 pounds of crude and more than 72,000,000 pounds of refined glycerin, and in addition nearly 8,000,000 pounds of stearin and candle pitch.

It is interesting to note from the census bulletin on the soap industry that toilet soap to the total value of $46,643,664 was made, and probably sold, which would indicate that the American people are naturally cleanly in their habits, for a great body of population washes up with laundry soap, soap powder, soap chips and other substances not included under the head of toilet soaps.

Knowing the total production of soap in pounds it might be well for the bureau of agriculture economics to figure what the boys of the A. E. F. might have obtained for it from the soap-famished inhabitants of the Rhine provinces when they crossed the Rhine in December, 1918. Soap was gold in Germany that year.

EXTENT OF RIPARIAN RIGHTS.

Owners of riparian rights in every State will await with interest the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the pending case of Jenkins vs. the United States, which was argued before the tribunal on Wednesday on appeal from the decision of the Court of Claims, which was against the plaintiff.

Jenkins is the riparian owner of certain lands in the Mississippi river which are submerged during some seasons and well above the surface of the water at other times. The facts as presented in the trial before the Court of Claims show that the government removed quantities of sand and gravel from the lands in question, which material was used in the making of concrete required in the improvement of the navigation of the river at a point remote from the lands of the plaintiff. It was contended and not disputed that the removal of the material from Jenkins' property did not improve the navigation of the stream at that point to any degree whatever.

Jenkins set up his claim based on an implied contract with the government to pay for the material which was taken without his consent. The Court of Claims rendered judgment for the United States, holding that there was no implied contract and no expressed agreement that the material should be paid for. It is claimed on the part of the defense that the government has the dominant right to improve navigation and in the exercise of that right anywhere along the way may use the material between the banks of a navigable stream.

Jenkins, in his appeal for the reversal of the decision of the lower court, contends that as no work of navigation is undertaken on the land to which he has complete title his constitutional rights are violated when that land is taken for a purpose other than the improvement of the navigation at the place from which his property was removed.

TO BUILD OR NOT TO BUILD.

American shipping circles are disappointed with the language of President Coolidge's message dealing with the merchant marine. The President says:

Some suggestion has been made for new construction. I do not feel that we are yet warranted in entering that field. Such ships as we might build could not be sold after they are launched for anywhere near what they would cost. * * * The great need of our merchant marine is not for more ships but for more freight.

In a recent address before the New York Board of Trade and Transport, Gen. A. C. Dalton, president of the Fleet Corporation, said:

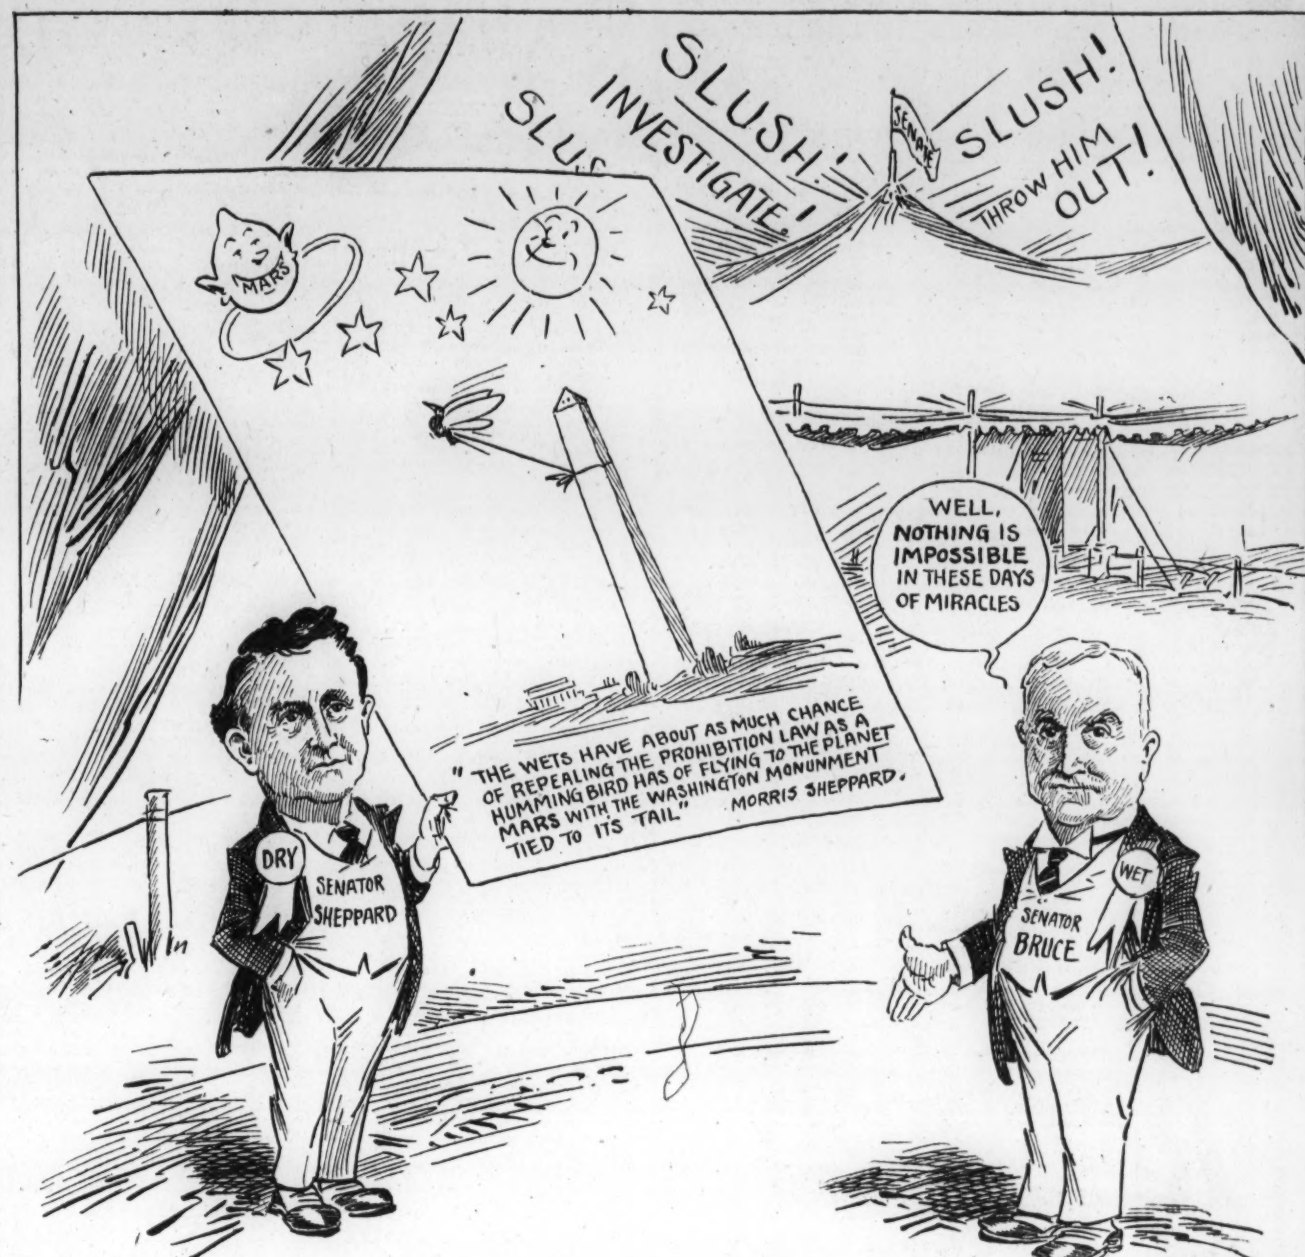

The United States is now engaged in the greatest peace battle of all time for supremacy of the seas. * * * It is useless to hope for the supremacy of American shipping unless American flag ships are as speedy as those flying foreign flags. Our competitors are building fleet ships, and are getting lucrative package freight. We must be content with low class freight. What is needed is a comprehensive building program.

This is a direct conflict of opinion. In the meantime Congress is awaiting the plan to be put forth by the Shipping Board early next year, as a result of its sounding of public opinion in all sections. The fact is becoming painfully apparent that the government has a white elephant on its hands and does not know what to do.

Nothing seems so important if you're old enough to remember a dozen controversies that enraged the world yesterday.

The court's decision that any car may be seized should encourage bootleggers to buy on the installment plan.

Food and Morality

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHEN the race of man was young and naked and roamed about in quest of food, there was no such thing as "property." A man had no more property rights than a wolf. He simply took what he could get, and did not, by taking, violate the rights of anybody else. When a few began to accumulate possessions, there was need of a law to protect them. The law was made by those who had something, not by those who had nothing. It does not say, "I must not steal from you." It says, "You must not steal from me." All ethics were the product of necessity, invented by those who had need of protection.

Not a great many years ago, theft was a hanging crime in England. The poor ranked about as high as vermin, and they were hungry most of the time. Their hard necessity made them the enemy of all property and they would steal whatever they could get their hands on and risk hanging.

It was not punishment that taught them ethics. Liberty and prosperity made them friends of property, for they accumulated property of their own.

"Morality" is in some measure mere selfishness. And an empty stomach is a poor place to develop a conscience.

We read much about holdup men and gangs that live by theft, but these rogues are very few. Nearly everybody is honest.

That is to say, civilization has progressed to the point where nearly everybody has something to lose—something that needs protection—and therefore nearly everybody is an enemy of thieves, raiders and marauders.

Nice rules of warfare are cast aside in bitter conflict. So ethics are forgotten in the extremity of destitution. Did not Berliners raid the turnip patches of fat farmers?

Where there is least want, there is the highest standard of morality. (Copyright, 1928.)

WORSE THAN SHYLOCK.

"No Offensive Names," Of Course, But Uncle Sam Is a Plunderer.

From the Vancouver Sun.
During the war, United States loans to Europe several billion dollars. The terms of that loan were that the money had to be spent in the United States for American goods. These goods were bought at highly inflated prices—ammunition, etc., ranging in some cases as high as ten times the normal or present value of the goods. England, France and Italy spent in the United States some $18,000,000,000. But the value of those goods at today's prices would not be more than $2,000,000,000.

After the war, United States ran her tariffs up so high that no nation in the world could trade with her. American and international financiers, preying on the weakness of war-torn Europe, played the exchange game to such a greedy extent that it deflated and practically ruined European currencies. How, then, can Europe pay this money back?

They have given Uncle Sam their last dollar's worth of gold. The American tariff prohibits their paying in goods. Yet, sitting behind that pile of goods and gold, Uncle Sam howls for what? For gold!

There is no use calling him offensive names, because if he can not picture the present plight of impoverished Europe, abusive language will not bring Uncle Sam to reason. France wants to pay her debt. But Frenchmen say "What's the use?" France has her natural products of fisheries, silks, perfumes and champagne. But Sam wants gold. Nothing else will do.

Heretic England, who borrowed money, not for herself, but to preserve the existence of her allies, settled for those guarantees to the last dollar, and as a result is today taking British people to death. For what? To pay for shells, guns and food bought at from ten to twenty times their real value. But Sam wants gold. His fingers are at Europe's throat. He has scuttled her economically.

What does he want this money for? Out of the world's wealth of one thousand billions, Uncle Sam already has Truxton Beale's Traveling Companion.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Referring to the article appearing in your estimable paper of last Sunday, November 28, 1926, section 1, page 8, under the headline, "Chinese Turkestan Explored by Two Men From Capital," Truxton Beale's companion who crossed Tian Shan range more than 30 years ago was not a Frenchman, but a Dalmatian Slav, Pierre A. Skoppeglia, a well-known courier-interpreter of Constantinople, who had similar experiences, though not as perilous, with Eugene Schuyler, Gen. Lew Wallace, S. S. Cox, E. Spencer Pratt and other prominent American diplomats in the Far East.

P. A. Skoppeglia organized the caravan for Mr. Beale at Samarkand and at Osh, and made Kashgar in China from the latter place in seventeen days over the mountains. After recrossing Tian Shan range during a terrific blizzard, Skoppeglia's nose and forehead were frosted. Finally reaching the Trans-Siberian railroad at Omsk and crossing the Ural mountains to Moscow, and then to Vienna, Austria, Pierre A. Skoppeglia was treated by a physician for his frostbitten nose and forehead. As soon as he recovered, Truxton Beale became very ill from typhoid fever from the hardships they encountered. PIERRE A. Child Labor Figures.
To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The District of Columbia, credited in these columns recently with leading the large cities of the country in the decrease of child workers during the past year, appears to deserve even greater credit than was suggested yesterday. The figures quoted in your recent editorial made it appear that child labor lessened in the large cities of the country during the calendar year 1925. The real statistics, as reported to the children's bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor, showed increases in the numbers of 14 and 15 year-old children granted work permits in 8 out of the 12 States and in 24 out of the 29 cities reporting. In view of these facts Washington deserves exceptional credit for not only showing a decrease in child workers, but a decrease of such extent—67 per cent.

The children's bureau attributes the large number of permits granted during 1925 to a revival of business. Studies of the bureau indicate that economic pressure is responsible for only a fraction of the children employed in industry and that, unless there is adequate school and child labor legislation, backed up by public sentiment, a "good" year with plentiful opportunities for jobs, is apt to attract boys and girls away from school and into the ranks of wage earners.

American standards would, seem, to justify the requirement that children should stay in school until they are 16, unless they have previously completed the eighth grade. An eighth grade education is surely none too much equipment for the struggle to earn a living nowadays. Yet the children's bureau reports that many child workers enter industry with a sixth grade education or less. J. R. G.

thing. Sometimes a little spring is located by a homesteader that will be the only source of water for thousands and thousands of acres, and out of that grew a great many of the old-time litigations and old-time crimes in New Mexico. People were killed to get them. And so, from the days of the Grover Cleveland, down to the present time almost, or when the lands became owned by somebody, the location of the springs was the source of the greatest trouble and the greatest trouble of anything that happened in New Mexico. And that extended over almost to the British line.

Q. Is this ranch of Mr. Fall's an agricultural or a cattle ranch?—A. It is a cattle ranch.

Q. What is the importance of the water?—A. Oh, you must have water, or else the cattle will die. You have to have water on it.

Q. Is it, or not, an arid country?—A. At times it is. At times it is one of the most blooming countries in the world, at the time of rains. But at times of drought between rains the grass dries up, and the wind blows it away and there is nothing left but the barren desert. And when the rain does come copiously, it seems the seeds have been hidden away and it springs up, and the grass grows in the country that was a barren place a few months before. That is the kind of country Mr. Fall was in, and the country to the east and west of him was of the same character.

Q. Tell us what you knew of the existence of the ranch already owned before he acquired the Harris ranch?—A. Well, it covered the principal part of that valley, the Tres Ritos ranch.

Q. You have used the words Tres Ritos. What does that mean?—A. Tres means three, it means rivers. Tres Ritos is Three Creeks.

Q. So that the name of the ranch is Tres Ritos?—A. Yes, sir. That is why it is called the Three Rivers. The headwaters is what he had to secure.

Q. And Fall's ranch is the Tres Ritos ranch?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. You say it covered thousands of acres?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. And did he say anything to you about the value of the Harris ranch and cattle that he was going to acquire?—A. I think he did, yes, sir.

Q. What?—A. Well, he told me what I already knew, that anybody that owned that ranch owned the key to his ranch.

Q. No; but I mean money value.—A. Yes, he told me it was going to cost about $600,000.

Q. Did he say it had that value?—A. Yes, it was worth more than that to him.

Q. You said he said something about paying $600,000 for the ranch, and the money he wanted was $100,000. Did he say anything about the value of the Harris ranch?—A. I don't remember.

Q. Anything about improvements or the cost of them?—A. I don't remember. I think perhaps he did.

Q. About that time did Mr. Fall tell you anything about his own position with regard to the Harris ranch?—A. He told me what I already knew, that the cattle on his ranch had not been paying for several years, that they had been going through a series of droughts, and that he did not have the cash to pay.

Q. And that he would like to have borrowed money that he could get from somebody else, or else he would have to interest somebody with him in the ranch. That was the proposal that I think he had in mind that he talked to me about making with Mr. McLean, but what he talked about with him after I told him that I would let him have the money whenever he needed it was to just give me a business on his ranch without any interest in it.

Q. Without any interest in it?—A. No, sir.

Q. Now, sir, when you told him that you would be willing or glad to make him this loan, did he say at that time whether he would take the loan or not?—A. No; he said that he would if he failed to get the money from the other sources.

Q. Did he say anything in the way of appreciation of your offer and, if so, what?—A. Oh, yes, always.

Q. What did he say then, in substance?—A. I don't know as I remember exactly what he said on that subject, at that time, but he certainly expressed an appreciation of everything that was done for him.

Q. Now, where did that conversation take place?—A. That took place at the Wardman Park hotel, I think.

Q. At whose apartment?—A. In his apartment.

Q. Did you tell any member of your family of it before he made the loan?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Who?—A. I told my wife of it.

Q. Anybody else?—A. I think I told my son of it; I don't know.

Q. You have only one son?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. He is your only child?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. The only son you have?—A. He is my only child. I have got five grandchildren.

Q. I mean, Ned is your only child, and then you have five little grandchildren?—A. Yes, sir.

Fall Asks Doheny for Loan.

Q. Mr. Doheny, when and how did you hear from Mr. Fall if you remember that he desired to consummate that loan?—A. He telephoned to me in New York from Washington.

Q. And what did he say to you?—A. He said that he was going to New Mexico with the hope of closing up that ranch, if possible with the Harris people, and wanted to know if I could let him have the money; that he hadn't gotten it from the other sources.

Q. And what did you say to him?—A. I told him yes, that I would be very glad to do it, and I asked him in what form he wanted it. I told him that I would let him have the money whenever he needed it.

Q. Did you say anything before he said that, that you would send your check down?—A. Yes, I think I did. My recollection on that was not so good when I was before the Senate committee, and I didn't remember whether it was at his suggestion or my own that I sent him the cash, but since then, after talking it over with Senator Fall, myself, I am quite sure that he was the one that suggested sending him the currency to use.

Q. When he asked you whether it was now convenient for you to make the loan, did you or not, to your best recollection, say, "Certainly, and I will send you a check"?—A. Yes, sir.

Mr. Roberts:—If your honor please, I think the witness ought not to be led.

Mr. Hogan:—I am not leading him.

Mr. Roberts:—I object to the question as highly leading and suggestive.

The Court (addressing the reporter):—Mr. Reporter, please read the question.

Thereupon the reporter read the last question, as above recorded.

The Court:—I think it is leading. Ask him what all said and what he said in reply.

Mr. Roberts:—I move to strike it out.

Mr. Hogan:—The question has been answered.

The Court:—Well, strike out the question, as above recorded.

By Mr. Hogan:—

Q. Did you return from Los Angeles after the return from Los Angeles?

Q. Did you see Mr. Fall in Los Angeles?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. I show you certificate No. 4 for 33 shares of the capital stock of the Tres Ritos Cattle & Land Co., issued the 20th day of May, 1922, to Albert B. Fall. Did you see that paper before?

Q. Yes, sir. This is the paper that Mr. Fall came to Los Angeles and gave me as security for the payment of that note, saying to me, "What I already knew, that he had not been able to pay the note and interest, as provided for in the note, and that he wanted to give me this as security until it could be paid in full.

By Mr. Hogan:—

Q. Mr. Doheny, what did Mr. Fall say to you with regard to what interest in the properties of the Tres Ritos company that certificate represented?

A. That represented one-third of the stock of the company.

Q. Did he say that it was indorsed in blank. Do you know the signature of the reverse side of that certificate?

A. Yes, sir. It is the signature of Albert B. Fall.

Q. In whose possession has that been since the spring of 1922?—A. It has been in my possession.

Q. Tell us what Mr. Fall told you about the properties that that company owned, that were behind the stock.

Mr. Hogan:—Yes, sir.

Offers One-Third Interest for Cash.

The Witness:—He told me that the property was very valuable, that the rainfall had been so dear that the price had not gone down so that it had not been remunerative and productive of profit, and consequently he had to ask me to take a one-third interest in the stock instead of cash in payment of the note.

Q. Did you yourself know anything about the condition of the cattle business in 1921 and 1922?—A. Yes, sir; I have been in the cattle business a great many years.

Q. What was the condition of the cattle business in 1921 and 1922?—A. Down to date.

Q. I say down to 1925 what had been the condition?—A. There has been a severe drought, and the cattle business has been very bad.

Q. What about the ranch that he had before?—A. That was the property of this company also.

Q. What, if anything, did Mr. Fall say to you about the value of the total holdings of this company?—A. He said that they were worth at least three times $600,000.

Q. That one-third was represented by the stock of the Tres Ritos company, which, of course, would leave a net of at least $600,000, and a net value of one-third of that would be the amount of the note.

Q. To Mr. Doheny, have you ever been to the ranch of the Tres Ritos?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. At Three Rivers?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. How long have you been there?—A. I have been there a week-end one time, and I rode over the Harris ranch, up on the hills, just what the conditions were there.

Virtually Made Elk Hills Fields.

Q. When did you first learn anything about the Elk Hills fields?—A. I almost made the Elk Hills fields. I was one of the men who were interested in a vast number of locations on these claims when the government was carrying on by that withdrawal order of President Taft.

Q. After explaining that his estimate of $100,000,000 as the amount which might be made out of the Elk Hills reserve was based on employment of a $200,000,000 capital for a period of from 15 to 40 years, Doheny said it was a lifetime job for any man who would live long enough to carry it out.

Q. How long have you been working with Hogan as to whether drilling operations undertaken by Doheny on the reserve had been successful since the lease was made?—A. The court sustained Hogan's statement that the result of drilling in No. 1 has not been profitable and lately it has been at a loss.

Q. Roberts objected to the introduction of Doheny's letter of March 8, 1924, to President Coolidge, when Doheny offered to complete the Elk Hills project at a risk of $2,000,000 of his own money. This letter was not an offer to the United States, but a statement to Hogan that he had the effect of acceptance of Doheny's offer. There was a huddle about the bench after Roberts' objection, but no further mention was made of the letter.

Testimony of Mrs. Doheny.

Mrs. Doheny took the stand at 10:12 a. m. She gave her name as Carrie Estelle Doheny and her direct examination was as follows:

By Mr. Hogan:—

Q. Mrs. Doheny, what is your name?—A. Carrie Estelle Doheny.

Q. You are the wife of Mr. E. L. Doheny, are you?—A. Yes, sir.

Q. Where do you reside, Mrs. Doheny?—A. Los Angeles, Calif.

Q. In 1921 did you and Mr. Doheny have a home any place besides Los Angeles?—A. Yes; in the Plaza Hotel, New York city.

Q. Did you have any quarters in Washington from the time of the withdrawal?—A. Yes, we did.

Q. For how long a time?—A. About four or five years.

Q. Did you live in Washington at any time prior to 1921?—A. Yes, we did.

Q. Where and what were you doing here?—A. We had a house at 2400 Sixteenth street for a time, and we had a house at 2501 Massachusetts avenue.

Q. Then you continued to keep an apartment here?—A. Then after we came back from Europe we had an apartment at the Shoreham hotel and then again at the Wardman Park.

Q. How long did you continue to maintain an apartment at the Wardman Park?—A. About a year, I think.

Q. Until about a year ago, you mean?—A. No. We had, about a year ago.

Q. Where are your husband's offices?—A. He has offices in Los Angeles, New York city and here.

Q. Do you know any one who knew anything about a loan made by your husband to Mr. Fall?—A. Yes, I do.

Q. From whom did you first hear of it?—A. From him.

Q. From whom?—A. From my husband.

Q. When, Mrs. Doheny?—A. We were walking along Fifth avenue one evening and I spoke to him about a letter I had received from the manager of our ranches, asking for some improvements, and Mr. Doheny said, "Please, I object, of course, to any self-serving statement by the defendant to Mrs. Doheny, with regard to the character of the transaction."

Mr. Hogan:—On what ground?

The Court:—At this stage, I understand the witness to be asked to recite the contents of some letter.

Mr. Hogan:—Oh, no.

The Court:—I understood she said some letter had been received.

Mr. Hogan:—No. She said "We had a letter about some ranch." I do not want the contents of any such letter.

The Court:—No, I assumed you did not, but I thought that is what she was going to say.

By Mr. Hogan:—

Q. Mrs. Doheny, be good enough to tell what your husband said to you about a loan, if he said anything to you about a loan to Mr. Fall.

Called Self-Serving Declaration.

Mr. Roberts:—If your honor please, I object to a self-serving declaration by the defendant to a third party with regard to a fact. It seems to me obvious that it cannot be admitted.

The Court:—I do not recall that you fixed the time or the date.

By Mr. Hogan:—

Q. When was this conversation?—A. About two weeks before the loan was made.

The Court:—I assume it is a statement made by one of the defendants concerning a loan which, among other things, is the subject matter of inquiry, by the defendant, a characterization of the loan was made.

Mr. Hogan:—Yes, sir.

The Court:—Mr. Roberts, I will hear you on this.

Mr. Roberts:—If your honor please, it amounts to a self-serving declaration by the defendant, a characterization of the loan was made.

Q. Did he say that it was indorsed in blank. Do you know the signature of the reverse side of that certificate?

A. Yes, sir. It is the signature of Albert B. Fall.

Q. In whose possession has that been since the spring of 1922?—A. It has been in my possession.

Berkley is the Tie of a Thousand Knots
And that's putting it conservatively.

Out of ancient Egypt, from old Coptic monasteries, comes a wealth of rich design, noted for the beauty of its geometric precision. The Copts were the first to weave designs into cloth. The rich, artistic motifs are expressed in a recent collection of Berkley Knit Ties which we are now showing. There's a distinction connected with giving them—as well as wearing them. Beautifully boxed with your card, that will, in the course of a year, remind a man a thousand times about you.

RUDOLPH FETE LIST TO BE CLOSED MONDAY

Reservations for Testimonial
Dinner for Commissioner
Limited by Committee.

So many reservations have been made for the testimonial dinner to be tendered Commissioner Cuno H. Rudolph next Friday night at the Willard hotel that those handling the affair decided yesterday to close the subscription list Monday. Robert V. Fleming, chairman of the general committee, declared yesterday that no application will be accepted after Monday.

Because of the record-breaking number of guests who will attend the ceremony, Brig. Gen. S. D. Rockenbach, chairman of the committee on arrangements, will issue in advance printed lists of the guests, with exact table and seat locations indicated alongside each name.

The entertainment program includes some of the celebrities of the stage. At the conclusion of this program an elaborate silver dinner set will be presented to Mr. Rudolph.

ARLINGTON COUNTY COOPERATION URGED FOR WATER SYSTEM

Phillips, Engineer, Asks Canvass to Decide Where Laterals Should Go.

DIVIDEND IS ANNOUNCED
BY CLARENDON TRUST

Master Plumbers Adopt Resolution to Care for Inspection of Work.

ARLINGTON COUNTY
BUREAU OF THE POST,
Tel. Clar. 600. Clarendon, Va.

Speaking before the Ballston Citizens association last night, Asa E. Phillips, engineer in charge of the installation of the Arlington county water system, stressed the need of cooperation among the citizens of each community in order that those wanting water may have the laterals laid first.

The program for the laying of the main trunk lines is complete; they will go along the main highway of each of the three districts.

"The big problem will be the laying of the lateral lines," Phillips said. "That part should be worked out by the citizens as far as to where they should go first."

"The plan I would like to see worked out," he said, "is the appointment of a committee to canvass the streets, find out who wants water and let the water board know."

J. B. Swecker was elected vice president of the Arlington-Fairfax Firemen's association at a meeting of the Clarendon fire department last night, to represent Clarendon. The other departments in the county will elect vice presidents. In addition to the election of a vice president plans were discussed for the building of a hose tower.

There will be a meeting of the chairman of the various committees in charge of the annual community Christmas tree tonight at the home of Mrs. Sade Catherine Cole, general chairman. Plans will be completed and arrangements made for the placing of the tree on the school grounds at Cherrydale.

The board of directors of the Clarendon Trust Co. yesterday announced the semiannual dividend of 3 per cent and added $5,000 to the surplus. The board also announced Christmas gifts to the employees, 5 per cent of their annual salary. The dividend will be payable December 31.

Suits for divorce were filed in the office of the clerk of the court yesterday by Lillian G. Coffman against Lloyd T. Coffman, Jesse Arthur Barnhart against Charlotte T. Barnhart and William H. Russell against Mary V. Russell.

There will be a meeting of the executive committee of the Arlington County Business association tonight at 8 o'clock in the office of Secretary Thomas S. O'Halloran, Clarendon Trust building. The proposal to consolidate with the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce will be discussed.

Despite the fact the board of supervisors at its last meeting failed to pass an amendment to the present plumbing ordinance offered by Dr. P. M. Chichester providing for the appointment of an inspector, the Arlington County Master Plumbers association at a meeting last night determined the homeowners of Arlington county should be protected as far as sanitary plumbing is concerned. The following resolution was adopted:

"There having been a code of rules governing proper and sanitary construction of plumbing in Arlington county adopted by the board of supervisors and that it is necessary that there be an inspector to see that these rules are carried out in the future, the Master Plumbers association, which favors right enforcement of the law, agrees to put in addition to the necessary permit the amount set forth in the proposed amendment for proper compensation for an efficient inspector."

George H. McCrillis president of the association, said the association is determined the standard of plumbing in Arlington county shall be raised, and that this can be accomplished only by a rigid inspection of all work.

Funeral services for Elida C. Hough, 63 years old, a resident of Falls Church for 35 years, who died at his home yesterday morning, will be conducted from the home tomorrow at 2 p. m. by the Rev. A. B. Alfthaus, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

He was born at Lowville, N. Y., in 1857. Mr. Hough is survived by his wife, one daughter, Miss Helen Hough, and two sons, Lawrence C. Hough and Phillip R. Hough.

Mr. Hough was an elder in the Falls Church Presbyterian church and for many years superintendent of the Sunday school. He also was active in county and State affairs. His father, Franklin B. Hough, was the first head of the forestry division of the Department of Agriculture.

The Edward Douglas White council, Knights of Columbus, met last night in the auditorium of St. Charles school. Plans were completed for the conferring of the first degree upon a large class of candidates Wednesday night.

The Children's chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. William E. Williams.

The Arlington County Monarch club met yesterday at the Clarendon Presbyterian church with President Perry L. Mitchell presiding.

Reports of the public safety committee, of which Walter V. Varney is chairman, show the committee is drafting an ordinance providing for the appointment of a fire marshal and the removal of many fire hazards. The committee expects to have the proposed ordinance in shape to present at the next meeting of the board of supervisors.

Plans were completed to arrange for the purchase of automobile tags bearing the name "Arlington County" as a means of advertising the county.

Concluding the business session, Ashton C. Jones, guest of the club, who is chairman of the board of directors of the Straight-to-the-Bridge-Boulevard association, outlined progress being made for a direct route from the memorial bridge through Clarendon, Ballston and to Falls Church.

Jones said that much effort the officials of the county have taken in the movement and at the last meeting of the board of supervisors resolutions adopting the proposed route were recorded.

"Now that the officials have taken up the work I feel that the association has done its duty and should let the officials act," he said. "Unless we get this road the thickly settled sections of Arlington county will be seriously affected."

Funeral services for Mrs. Louise W. Sparshott, 77 years old, who died Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. G. Davis, Glenclaryn, Arlington county, will be conducted today at 2 p. m. from the home of Mrs. Davis, by Dr. Eaton, pastor of Mount Taber Methodist Protestant church. Burial will be in Glenwood cemetery.

Besides Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Sparshott is survived by two other daughters, Mrs. F. B. Cogswell and Mrs. G. E. Hendry, and four sons, William, Charles, Alfred and Frank Sparshott.

SALM, SAYS REPORT

to anticipate the uncertainties of the outcome of the case by paying his noble son-in-law a half million dollars, more or less, and put an end to the whole matter, such settlement may be satisfactory to all concerned. The rumors about such a settlement today included the statement Count Salm could have the modification on condition that he relinquish all claim to his son Peter. Mr. Conway, on Wednesday, offered Count Salm a separation by agreement between the plaintiff and his wife, but Mr. Goodstein, his counsel, rejected this offer, saying that his client wanted a court decree. The only possible difference such decree could make would be in the custody of the child and would not change the present relationship of the count and countess, who are effectually and probably permanently separated.

Salm Assailed Judge.

New York, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Investigation disclosed today that on November 17, Herman B. Goodstein, Count Ludwig Salm's attorney, had filed papers with Justice John Proctor Clark, presiding justice of the appellate division of the supreme court, attempting to enjoin Supreme Court Justice Aaron Levy from hearing the count's separation suit, but that this petition had been denied.

The ground on which the petition was based was that Justice Levy had exceeded his jurisdiction and usurped powers not belonging to him in decreeing that the case would be heard during the term of the supreme court of the October term of the supreme court. Goodstein also complained that Justice Levy had sent to Secretary of State Kellogg a letter drawn up by Albert C. Conway, counsel for Countess Salm, asking if the count had applied at the office of the American consul, either in Berlin or Vienna, for permission to come to this country under the quota provisions of the immigration law. Goodstein declared he was not notified of this procedure before the letter was sent.

The answering papers declared that all parties concerned had welcomed in open court any independent investigation which Justice Levy might make. Justice Levy's answering affidavit also asserted that the repeated requests by Salm for adjournments, made through his counsel, had caused him to become suspicious of the plaintiff's good faith in the action.

MRS. BURGESS, BRIDE, ROBBED OF JEWELRY

Loss Is $15,000 to $100,000.

Mrs. Treadwell Loses
$35,000 From Car.

New York, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Police revealed today that on November 17, jewelry valued at several thousand dollars was stolen from the Hotel Belmont room occupied by Mrs. George R. Burgess of Fort Adams, Rhode Island. Part of the jewelry has been recovered, police said. Varying reports placed the value of the jewels stolen as high as $100,000 and as low as $15,000.

Mrs. Burgess, formerly Miss Barbara Sands, is a granddaughter of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt. She was secretly married to Lieut. Burrows in Baltimore in October and started on a belated honeymoon almost a month later. After their honeymoon in Europe, they returned to Newport, where Lieut. Burgess is stationed at Fort Adams. Ogden L. Mills is Mrs. Burgess' guardian.

This was the second jewel robbery of society people reported in the past two days. It was learned yesterday that Mrs. George Treadwell, of Albany, N. Y., was robbed of jewels and dresses valued at $35,000 on the evening of November 30, on her return to New York after accompanying Queen Marie of Roumania. The valuables were taken from her automobile.

Slow-Motion Films to Record
Functioning of Organs and Disease Spread.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 9 (A. P.).—The motion picture today became an accepted means for instruction in the science of medicine and surgery and an approved instrument for the promotion of public health.

Internationally known surgeons, meeting in conference here with technical experts and representatives of the motion picture industry, discussed preliminary plans for using the movie for the dissemination of knowledge and technique through employment of the color film and the slow motion camera in recording the progress of contagious diseases, the performance of delicate operations and the functioning of the organs of the human body.

Dr. Franklin Martin, of Chicago, director-general of the American College of Surgeons, announced that steps to be taken in preliminary experiments with surgical films, had been left to himself and George Eastman, chairman of the board of the Eastman Kodak Co. Mr. Eastman offered to undertake the expense of conducting the experiments in so far as they relate to equipping an operating room at the University of Rochester school of medicine and furnishing the technical photographic service.

Japan Buying Island
25 Miles From Luzon

(Special Cable Dispatch.)
Manila, Dec. 9.—Negotiations practically have been completed for the sale of Puga Island, in the Batanes group of Babuyan islands, 25 miles west of Luzon, Philippine islands, and near Formosa, to the Japanese. The island, which consists of 37,000 acres is held under Torrens title by Vincente Macagnan, a Filipino, whose ancestors received it 200 years ago from the Spanish crown.

The Philippine laws prohibit the sale of public lands to the Japanese, but Puga island is privately owned. The island is inhabited by about 400 fishermen and timber cutters and has been frequently visited by Japanese timber raiders from Formosa.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY URGES MODIFICATION

Volstead Act Is Baneful and Not Enforceable, Say
New Yorkers.

New York, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—A Federal grand jury which heard evidence in liquor cases during November today announced that it had adopted, prior to its dissolution, a resolution, by a vote of 19 to 4, urging modification of the Volstead act. Having had "ample opportunity to observe by reason of personal testimony and evidence presented to us the baneful effects of the Volstead act," said the resolution, "it is our opinion that this law in its present form can not be enforced."

The resolution, copies of which have been mailed to Senators from New York, Federal judges and public prosecutors, contains the following: "We therefore submit that such modification in this law as will bring it within the bounds of reason and possible enforcement is necessary for the general good of the nation, and we recommend and urge that the next regular session of Congress take cognizance of the result of the vote of the several referenda had November 2 as indicative of the opposition of a large part of the population of the United States toward this law as it now stands and so modify it that it may become safe, sane and workable."

MAN KILLS COUPLE; KIDNAPS DAUGHTER

Woman Eludes Farm Hand
When He Gets Out of Auto to Repair It.

New Bloomfield, Pa., Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—A demented farm hand today beat to death his aged employer and wife when they refused his demands for money, and then kidnaped their daughter.

The victims were George D. Shull, 60, and his wife, Ella. Both their heads were crushed by blows from a heavy club. Their alleged assailant, Paul Sheaffer, seized Mrs. Elsie Kell, a daughter, who had been visiting her parents, dragged her into Shull's automobile and started away with her.

After traveling almost to Harrisburg something went wrong with the car.

When the man got out to repair the trouble Mrs. Kell drove away, and collapsed several miles later after colliding with a heavy truck.

A State-wide search for Sheaffer was under way tonight.

COOLIDGE TO STAY IN MAYFLOWER HOTEL

When it became known the President would have to move out of the White House he was flooded with invitations. They came from both individuals and hotels. There were some who believed the President might move into the palatial mansion that John G. Henderson built on upper Sixteenth street for the use of the Vice President. While he was Vice President Mr. Coolidge lived at the Willard hotel.

Bids for reconducting the White House will be received December 31 by Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant. Work will begin within ten days after contracts have been awarded.

President Coolidge announced at the time the estimates for the repairs were presented to Congress that he expected to vacate the White House shortly after the end of the present third session of Congress in March.

To Replace Old Trestles.

The reconducting will involve a new roof approximately 170 feet long and about 70 feet wide. The original wooden trestles erected in 1815 after the building was burned by the British, will be replaced with steel. The roof will be constructed of steel generally, the floor construction, supported by steel beams, of terra cotta arches.

The third floor, attic and second floor ceiling will be rebuilt. Plans have been prepared so as not to alter the architectural appearance of the building and have been approved by the commission. The appropriation for the work amounts to $875,000, of which $26,000 is for rental of temporary residence for the President during the reconstruction period.

The work will remove a condition considered unsafe for years. Workmen have been employed every winter to remove snow from the roof, and a tank was taken from the roof some time ago.

Specifications provide, in detail, for construction of the second-story ceiling, a third-story ceiling and a new roof of structural steel on the exterior walls and interior brick construction. Provision is made for protection of the lower part of the building while it is in progress, such as installation of masonry and dustproof screens and a temporary roof to cover the building. A new water heater is among the improvements.

PROSPERITY END SOON, MINE MEETING TOLD

Will Be Caused by Industrial Activity in Europe, Senator King Says.

The "era of prosperity" which America is enjoying will come to an end within two years, Senator William H. King, of Utah, predicted last night at the annual banquet of the American Mining Congress in the Mayflower hotel.

Within that time, Senator King said, he looked for a serious falling off of American exports to Europe because of greater industrial activity on the part of Europe itself. He predicted that within ten years Germany would dominate all Europe, both politically and industrially. He urged greater participation by the United States in world affairs as one means of holding on to overseas trade.

The only solution to the vexing question of rising tax burdens is centralized control of local spending policies and close supervision and control of accounting systems. L. R. Gottlieb, economist, of New York, opened the afternoon session, Senator Tucker L. Oddie, of Nevada, was toastmaster at the banquet last night, and the principal speaker was Noah Swaine, of Philadelphia.

Periodical Society Hears Two Bishops

The Church Periodical Club of the Diocese of Washington was addressed by two Episcopal bishops yesterday in the Epiphany church. Both the Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, bishop of Washington, and the Rt. Rev. H. St. George Tucker, bishop coadjutor of Virginia, emphasized the value of Christian periodicals.

Bishop Tucker said the Japanese read too many foreign books that are not Christian and capable of building ideals. Bishop Freeman explained the bishop's crusade, which is being carried on in the Episcopal church to bring the clergy and members to an understanding of the higher things of life.

ONCE POPULAR SONGS WRITTEN BY BEETHOVEN
Long-Forgotten Side of the Great Composer's Life to Be Revived.
ROMANTIC SOUL SHOWN

New York, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Beethoven as a writer of popular ballads is the underside of the great composer's career brought to light again in the musical world's observance of his centenary.

Songs which have lain forgotten and unused for the last 50 years will be revived, says Frederick Freeman, secretary of the Beethoven centennial memorial committee. The committee hopes to make Beethoven known as the composer of 80 songs "as tender and light as his symphonies are heavy and profound."

The composer, remembered mostly for his symphonies and sonatas, is described by Freeman as the popular song writer of his day. Beethoven's reputation was so high among his contemporaries that he was chosen chief editor of a large collection of ballads, "Adelaide" and "To the Distant Beloved" are among his own best known compositions.

"It is a curious fact," says Freeman, "that all of the songs have the single theme of moral night. Though he was a man of his day, Beethoven personally remembered even now mainly for his eccentricities, his songs have a delicacy and a joyousness that reveal a sensitive and even a romantic soul."

"One of Beethoven's most charming vocal pieces, 'Vita Felice,' is the rhapsody of a happy married man, although he was a grouchy old celibate."

"Physically repellent, he brought to his songs all the sentiment and romance that he himself was unable to inspire. He set to music a delicate verse entitled 'Flame Colored'—a poem celebrating the shades of ladies dressed in red in his day as it happens to be again at the present time."

"The last song that Beethoven wrote was a setting of a poem called 'The Kiss.' It was written immediately after an embarrassing moment at a reception. A young woman, instead of listening to the music, was admiring Beethoven's massive forehead. When he complimented him, not on his playing, but on his high brow, he retorted, 'Well, kiss it if you want to.' The challenge was accepted, to his discomfort."

EVIDENCE OF ASIATIC MIGRATION IS FOUND
Mud Hovels Held Upright by Ivory Tusks Found on Bering Sea Isles.

Seattle, Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Half-buried mud hovels of primitive design, held upright by ivory tusks, found on uninhabited, rocky islets in Bering sea, have furnished additional evidence that the first inhabitants of America might have come from Asia by way of Alaska.

The dwellings were discovered by officers of the cutter Albatross, of the United States coast guard's arctic patrol, while cruising the eastern edge of St. Lawrence island, midway between Alaska and Siberia.

The islets were off the southeast coast of St. Lawrence island. In the frozen earth the guardians uncovered skulls and bones of humans and lower animals and crude metal implements.

Two of the skulls were forwarded to the Smithsonian Institution. A peculiarity of the skulls found on the island was that one side of the jaws of each appeared to be more developed than the other.

Famous Poets

Victor Marie Hugo
 1802-1885

VICTOR HUGO'S life started almost tragically, for on the cold February night when he came into the world, this little boy, "no bigger than a table knife," as his mother said, nearly died. But from this inauspicious start, Hugo made himself the dominant French poet and literary light of the nineteenth century.

Ballads and odes filled his scrapbooks from the time he could write. Tirelessly he worked—indeed, he produced—and always with lucidity and clarity in his style. His complete works numbered fifty-eight volumes.

Today a career of success based on zealous work always rests, in part, on intelligent investment of the earnings of the labor. And so the prudent man selects First Mortgages as the investment in which to preserve his hard earned savings and wisely selects those investments offered by Swartzell, Rheem and Hensley Company, because he knows that they are safe and will always bring him a liberal income.

You should consider this for the protection of your savings.

Province of Buenos Aires

Argentine Republic

7% External Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

Consolidation Loan of 1926

A substantial amount of these bonds has been placed in Europe, including $2,000,000 of bonds which are being offered in Amsterdam by Pierson & Co., Nederlandsche Handel-Maatschappij, Mendelssohn & Co., Amsterdam, Proehl & Gutmann, and Vermeer & Company

Dated December 1, 1926

Due June 1, 1957

HALLGARTEN & CO. and KISSEL, KINNICUTT & CO., Fiscal Agents.

The following is summarized from a letter (transmitted by cable) of Dr. Francisco Ratto, Minister of Finance of the Province:

PROVINCE OF BUENOS AIRES: The Province of Buenos Aires is the premier province of the Argentine. It ranks first, not only in point of area, size and density of population, but also by virtue of its industrial, agricultural and commercial development. The Province has an area of 117,700 square miles, which is larger than the combined areas of the New England States and the State of New York, and a population in excess of 2,600,000, or about one-fourth of the entire population of the Argentine. A separate Federal District (analogous to the District of Columbia, U. S. A.), and containing the City of Buenos Aires, capital of the Argentine Republic, adjoins the Province, its population of 2,000,000 providing a permanent and important market for food and other products. The Province is traversed by a network of railroads, the mileage exceeding 8,000, representing more than one-third of the total railroad mileage of the country.

AMOUNT AND PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The Act authorizing this issue provides that the proceeds thereof shall be applied to the liquidation of the floating and short term indebtedness of the Province. These bonds form part of an authorized issue (the Consolidation Loan of 1926) of 42,020,000 Argentine gold pesos (about $40,500,000) or the equivalent in foreign currencies at legal parity, of which amount 6,020,000 gold pesos (about $5,800,000) have been reserved by the Province for internal issue, the balance of 36,000,000 gold pesos (about $34,700,000) being authorized for issuance externally. The present issue together with the internal issue above mentioned will suffice to liquidate the entire floating and short term indebtedness of the Province maturing on or before December 31, 1926.

SECURITY: These external bonds are a direct obligation of the Province of Buenos Aires, which pledges its full faith and credit for the due and punctual payment of principal, interest and sinking fund. In addition these bonds and any other subsequently issued external bonds up to the total of 36,000,000 gold pesos (about $34,700,000) of the Consolidation Loan of 1926 are specifically secured by a first charge and lien on the real estate and inheritance taxes, subject only to the prior charges now existing; and the Province covenants that the maximum annual amount of such prior charges is not and shall not exceed 4,700,000 Argentine gold pesos ($4,535,000).

The Province declares that the real estate tax, the revenues from which will be greatly increased through revaluations effective January 1, 1927, is calculated to produce not less than the equivalent of 24,200,000 Argentine gold pesos ($23,300,000) in each fiscal year. After deducting from this amount the said annual prior charges, there remain an amount equal to more than ten times the annual service charges on this issue, and more than six times those of the total authorized external issue of said Consolidation Loan. After deducting the said annual prior charges from the combined calculated annual revenue from the real estate and inheritance taxes, the remainder is equivalent to more than eleven times the annual service charges on this issue, and more than seven times the same charges on said total authorized external issue. Should at any time the revenue from the real estate tax fall below the amount above specified, the Province covenants that at the request of the Fiscal Agents it will pledge receipts from other taxes in an amount equal to the deficiency until the revenue from the real estate tax shall again reach the above figure. The Province in addition covenants to establish the rates and bases of the real estate and inheritance taxes pledged as security for this issue in order to ensure as a minimum the revenues referred to above as long as any of these bonds remain outstanding.

DEBT RECORD: For 29 years, with exception of two years during the World War, the Province has never failed to prepay funds for the interest payments on its external debt. The Province funded the 1915 and 1916 interest payments at the time. The sinking fund payments due at this time were resumed in 1919 and 1920. Prior to this period, in 1890, in consequence of the so-called Baring crisis, the Province in common with several South American countries, including Argentina, failed to meet its external debt service. By agreement with the bondholders the external debt was refunded into bonds of the Argentine Nation and payments resumed.

FINANCE: In 1920 total receipts of the Province aggregated $30,950,000, and by 1925 they had risen to $46,570,000.

The total funded indebtedness of the Province, including this issue, is $239,302,300. The assessed value of privately owned real estate is in excess of $2,000,000,000, based upon present assessments, it being estimated that the actual market value is approximately double this amount. The total wealth of the Province is estimated at over $6,000,000,000, representing a per capita wealth in excess of $2,300, as compared with a per capita debt of less than $92.

All conversions of Argentine pesos to United States dollars have been made at par of exchange.

These Bonds are offered when, as and if issued and accepted by us and subject to the approval of counsel, Messrs. Sullivan & Cromwell, New York City, who as to questions of Argentine law, will consult with Dr. Benjamin Garcia Victorio and Dr. Carlos Meyer Pellegrini, Buenos Aires. We reserve the right to reject subscriptions in whole or in part, to allot less than the amount applied for and to close the subscription books at any time without notice. Temporary bonds or interim receipts deliverable in the first instance.

NUMEROUS NET GAINS ED BY CARRIER GROUP

Entire Stock List Displays Buoyancy and Resists Late Selling Move.

CALL MONEY EASES OFF

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Dec. 9.—The stock market was buoyant today under leadership of the carriers, French firms slipped back another 10 points to 3.50 for cables, cotton prices slumped about 10 cents, and money rate dropped from 5 to 4 1/2 per cent. This movement in the day financial markets were quite mixed.

Traders in the constructive side of the stock market were in an aggressive mood today and refused to be routed when the late selling movement, which has become quite regular of late, set in. The result was that the entire list of stocks showed a net gain, the list ranging from 1 to 8 1/2 points. Although the rails as a group gave the numerous in practically all other divisions of the market, and even, there were some air holes and snags, especially among the industrials, and at the close many net losses for the day were in evidence, ranging up to 3 1/2 points.

In the carrier group the forward movement got under way early, with the anthracite carriers taking the lead, and the standard rails fell into line quite general, extending to the other divisions of the market.

There was nothing to indicate, however, that the market was in other than the hands of professional traders. In the news which were some features of feeling toward stocks. These included Secretary Mellon's optimistic view of the financial and business situation, building situation and installment buying, easier money, the publication of further and increased earnings of the railroads during the year, reports of the reports of carriers for October, which now are all in, and a compilation shows more than 6 per cent earned on over the same month last year.

Participating in the forward movement among the carriers were Chesapeake & O., Atlantic Coast Line, Chesapeake & Hudson, Lehigh Valley, Rock Island, Great Northern, Rock Island, York Central, Reading, Seaboard, Line Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific, St. Louis & N. O., and others.

General Motors moved up 10 1/2 points, closing fractionally within the highest point of its history, while other members of the group moved forward on good demand, making net gains of 1 to 3 points.

The carriers were active, with large blocks changing hands, but the closing up 3 points. Independent steel, however, was quiet, with a good demand showing and some mercantiles continuing to reflect optimistic predictions for Christmas trade.

The oil market, closing down, aside from the franc's drop, the foreign exchange market was dull. Sellers were used to pay for Christmas remittances, and a trifle more, but prices yielded 5 points.

Tony Plansky Training for Olympics

Georgetown Star to Enter Many Meets This Winter.

Decathlon Champion to Run in Sprints and Throw Weights.

By JACK ESPEY.

TONY PLANSKY, one of the most versatile athletes of Georgetown university in recent years, will seek a place on the United States Olympic team in 1928 and toward that end has begun conditioning himself to take part in most of the winter's indoor track meets.

Although having completed his term of eligibility to compete for Georgetown, Plansky still attends the Hilltop institution in pursuit of a diploma. He had not finished his studies when he arrived at the end of his college sports career last June.

Plansky plans to perform this winter as an untied entry, running in the sprints from 30 to 300 yards, and putting the shot and broad jumping; if the latter events are included on the program. His skill extends beyond these, however, as he has shone brilliantly in the discus, javelin, pole vault, high jump and hop, step and jump.

In fact, Plansky still holds an all-around championship title, which bears ample proof of his versatility. He won the championship last spring at the Pennsylvania relay carnival. Previously he had won the indoor shot-put championship, and once was the holder of the national decathlon title.

Marks that the Boston giant has attained with consistency are: Shot put, 45 feet; javelin, 135 feet; discus, 130 feet; pole vault, 11 feet 6 inches; and high jump, 5 feet 7 inches.

Plansky will not have the opportunity to display all of his wares during the indoor season owing to the absence of many of the field events from the program. There has been a tendency lately on the part of officials in charge of indoor meets to reduce the number of field events, with the result that there are seldom more than the shot put and broad jump included. This is true especially in New York and New England.

In the spring Plansky hopes to continue his activities in the outdoor meets but he will not do any vaulting or high jumping. He feels that he can do his best work along the other lines.

If successful in winning a place on the 1928 Olympic team, Plansky will be the sixth Georgetown athlete to have represented this country in the international games since 1920.

In 1924 five sons of Georgetown performed at Paris, Jimmy Burgess, Bill Dowling, Emerson Norton, Jimmy Connelly and Bob LeGendre. The latter two were alumni, but in 1920 they were varsity athletes and competed at Antwerp.

Of these five, Burgess and Dowling remain at Georgetown, and very likely they will be considered again for places on the team. Connelly, who has been running for the New York A. C. during the last three years, also probably will be a candidate.

WINTONS PRACTICE.

Rain last night interfered with the drilling of the Wintons who are conditioning for their Sunday battle with the Clarendon Lyons. However, Manager Goldberg requested all members of the team to report for practice tonight.

Sam Rice Is Second Nat to Sign for 1927

Sam Rice, star right fielder of the Nationals, yesterday morning drifted into President Griffith's office and signed a contract for the coming season. As has been the case ever since Sam first joined the Washington team, there was no argument whatsoever over terms.

Emmett McCann, a rookie infielder, is the only other National now in the fold for 1927.

Tris Speaker Reveals His Business Plans

Texarkana, Ark., Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—Tris Speaker, once baseball's most valued player, who resigned this year as pilot of the Cleveland Indians, tonight announced his plans for entering the business world this coming spring instead of preparing for other diamond clashes.

Speaker, who arrived here en route to his home in Hubbard, Tex., announced that he planned to become a partner in the Geometric Stamping Co., of Cleveland, the city which witnessed his rise to diamond fame and saw him lead his Redskins to a world's championship. He also is considering other business enterprises, he indicated.

Speaker, accompanied by his wife, will resume his motor journey tomorrow.

WINTER BALL BANNED BY MINORS

Pacific Coast Circuit Suffers by Radical Change in Rules.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Dec. 9 (By A. P.).—The National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues selected Dallas, Texas, for its 1927 meeting and adjourned here today after one of the most harmonious and progressive conventions held since its organization 28 years ago.

Dallas, Toronto and Richmond, Va., extended invitations to the convention for its next meeting, but Dallas won almost unanimously. No date for the meeting was set.

The last day of meeting saw the most radical ruling of the year passed. The association decreed that no more winter baseball could be played by players owned by clubs in the leagues which make up the membership. The Pacific Coast league players and a number of the Eastern leagues will be affected by the rule. There has been a regular winter season on the West coast and some winter baseball in Florida and South Georgia.

Commissioner K. M. Landis was given a rousing reception in the meetings of the association and yesterday received a vote of confidence which at the same time delivered "official notice" to the makers that the minors want Commissioner Landis rejected for a term of seven years at the next meeting of the big leagues.

The board of arbitration went into session shortly after the association adjourned and began working through a mass of routine which piled up during the meetings of the association.

The morning session of the last day was taken up with the reading and approving of a codified constitution for the association which will serve as the minor league agreement. There were no new rulings which would affect the conduct of minor league baseball, incorporated in the new draft made by a committee appointed at the last year's convention.

Bowlers from Uncle Sam's big print shop are proving the sensation of the ten-club District league. The Typos have averaged more than 500 pins in each game and are topping a circuit which includes the city's most consistent players. Government Printing Office has a lead of one game over the crack Convention Hall five. Members of the team pictured above and their averages are (top row, left to right): "Hank" Cowden, 115; Charles Barnard, 110; Ray McKittrick, 112. School Marks Endanger Eligibility of Basketers

Business to Lose Harrington, Center—Stewart's Standing Doubtful—Coggins May Lose Many—Two Games Today.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

THE scholastic ax is about to fall and which members of the public high school basketball teams will lose their caste is the principal worry of the five coaches. The marks go in for the second semester and the glad or sad news will be a reality on Monday.

Coach Jack Collins, of Business, has already given up hope for Al Harrington, whom he has been working as a regular center, and is not any too pleased with the chances of Tony Stewart, veteran forward.

At Central, Coach Coggins said "about half" of his squad would probably make falling marks. Eastern and Western were reported to feel easy about the principal players on their squad, while Coach Lowry, at Tech, has "three or four" on the doubtful list.

Harrington was not in uniform yesterday when Business defeated the American university freshmen, which is taken to mean he is through. A natural basketball player and the main cog of what Coach Collins had looked upon as his first team, Harrington's loss is an obstacle to Business' chances in the coming series.

If Stewart also fails to make the scholastic grade the Stenographers will be virtually erased as a championship contender unless the court series becomes a repetition of the last football campaign.

Eastern and Tech will make their season's debut today, leaving Western the only team of the public high group not yet in competitive action.

Eastern faces St. John's in the Eastern gymnasium, starting at 3:30 o'clock. The Vermont Avenue cadets are becoming something of "trial horses" for the series teams and gave both Business and Central good battles.

Although he will use at least five teams in today's game, Coach Charley Guyon says that Fisher,

Schmeelk Is Signed As Bruins' Manager

Garry Schmeelk, erstwhile manager of the Washington and Brooklyn teams of the American Basketball league, was signed to manage the Chicago five by President George Halas yesterday. He will direct the Bruins in their game here with the Washington team Sunday night.

Schmeelk, like the other members of the Brooklyn team, became a free agent recently after the New York Celtics took over the Brooklyn franchise in the league. Most of the players have found jobs with other league teams. Smythe, a forward having joined Washington. The latter played in Capt. Kennedy's lineup against the Celtics Wednesday night.

Oehmman, Depoe, Capt. Hogarth and Doerflinger will be his starting lineup. Cappelli and McAllister, his whippersnappers, will be ready.

Coach Lowery, of Tech, has limited his squad to eight players for the game today with Woodward to be played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, starting at 8:15 o'clock. He will use Berger, Weigel, Loyking and Helms at forwards, Gaskins and Rooney at center and Capt. Terneak and Kapp at guards.

Giant Owners Flayed by Jennings

Declares Magnates Cut Pay Off After He Became Ill.

Overexerted Self for Club, Veteran Says; Praises McGraw.

Special to The Washington Post.

GRANTON, Pa., Dec. 9.—Hughy Jennings, former manager of the Detroit Americans and later assistant to John J. McGraw in handling the New York Giants, today issued a statement attacking three officials of the New York club and accusing them of deserting him in his "hour of need." A week ago Jennings, who is spending his time between the Pocono mountains and his home in this city trying to regain his old health, announced he would return to baseball the coming season, but not with the Giants.

His statement today, which reads, in part, is self-explanatory:

"A week ago I told the public I was ready to go back to baseball and today I am telling them why I would not again become a member of the New York Giants. The day that I went into a nervous breakdown, caused principally because I overexerted myself in an effort to give the New York National league club every ounce of energy I had in my system in 1924 and 1925, while Manager John J. McGraw was ill, Judge Francis X. McQuade and Charles Stoneham, owners of the Giants, absolutely deserted me, cut me off the pay roll and from that day to this never directly asked me by wire or letter or word of mouth how I felt.

"These two men, along with their secretary, Joe Tierney, shunned me in every way and proved to me that they are three ingrates, unfit for me to have any dealings with, and, therefore, I am through with the Giants, much as I would like to go back to mingle with my real friend, John McGraw, manager of the club, who stuck with me all the way through and did all he could to assist me in my recovery.

"When one is down and out physically and can't see much brightness in life, one can be helped only by those whom he feels are his friends and God, to whom I give thanks for my complete recovery, and I can't help but remember that the owners of the Giants absolutely forgot all that I had done in excess of what my contract and remuneration called for in 1924 and 1925 when they were left in a hole through the disability of McGraw. They cast me aside as one who would be of no further use to them.

"These things stick to one's mind, regardless of how hard one tries to forget them, and as long as I have a bit of self-respect left I can't have anything but disrespect for the ingratitude shown by Stoneham, McQuade and Tierney. I was very fortunate in having a wife and a lot of good friends to stick with me and see that I had proper encouragement and treatment."

WAVERLY TO DRILL.

The Waverly A. C. football team will practice Sunday at 10:30 o'clock on the Potomac park gridiron. Manager Kersey wants all players to report.

Ray Foley to Captain 1927 Catholic Eleven

Ray Foley, Catholic university's best all-round athlete, was elected captain of the Cardinal football team for the 1927 season at a meeting yesterday of the Catholic letter men. This is the second time he has been thus honored at the Brookland institution, having led the basketball team last winter.

A junior in the university, Foley has made an enviable reputation in football, basketball and baseball. He plays quarterback, guard and center in the respective sports. At present he is drilling with the basketball squad and appears to have clinched a varsity position. He is 20 years of age.

Foley was well prepared for college athletics when he entered Catholic. He starred in four sports for the high school of his home town, Naugatuck, Conn., with his father being the school's director of athletics. In his first year at the ideal university Ray captained the freshmen football team.

LEVY DRILLS APACHES ON WET FIELD

Way Paved for Game With Mohawks on Sunday at Park.

EXHIBITING a technically worded contract, Manager Patsy Donovan, of the Mohawks, proved that the way is clear for the clash of the Indians and the Apaches at American League park Sunday, starting at 2:30 o'clock. Donovan's contract was one signed by Manager Kersey, of the Waverly A. C. in which Kersey agreed to move the Waverly-Mohawk game ahead a week.

With that obstacle removed, all that is required now is half-decent weather and Washington's sandlot gridiron "class" will be on the Sabbath program.

The rivals are preparing for the battle with the same vigor which marked their practice last week. Coach Lionel Levy did not spare the Apaches last night on account of the rain. Realizing that a wet field will probably have to be used Sunday, Levy is taking every opportunity to accustom his players to the soft going and the slippery ball.

Jack Hegarty has been far from comforting to his Mohawk charges this week and will have them practicing signals every night. Afforded the chance of working out under the stands on dry ground, Hegarty has also used the field part of the time. Like Levy, the Mohawk coach wants to be prepared for a wet gridiron.

The week's delay in staging the battle has not affected the betting, it seems. The "wise boys downtown" are still offering 3 to 2 on the Mohawks, with the Apache supporters jockeying for 5 to 3. There is still the possibility that the rivals will enter the game even-Steven when Southeast opens its purse on the Apaches.

ST. STEPHEN VS. CRESCENTS.

The St. Stephen and Crescent eleven will clash for the 135-pound title Sunday on the Monument lot at 2:30 o'clock.

Hilltop Team Favored for Open Date

Conquerors of Notre Dame Would Meet G. U. in Pittsburgh

Fordham Contest Also a Possibility for Little's Eleven

GEORGETOWN university's eleven next fall probably will meet the Carnegie Tech team, of Pittsburgh, the only team that defeated Notre Dame during the past season. It was learned last night. The game will fill out each school's program of hard games for 1927.

Although Georgetown has remained silent about the date, which is the Saturday before Thanksgiving and which in years past has seen Georgetown playing Fordham, the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times has the following to say this morning:

"The Carnegie Tech football schedule for 1927 was announced this afternoon by Graduate Manager Clarence Overendo. It contains eight games with one date, November 19, yet to be filled. Although there are several schools seeking a game on the remaining date, it is expected that either Georgetown or Detroit will be the successful one.

"A strong local sentiment in favor of bringing Georgetown to Pittsburgh gives the Washington Catholic institution the favored advantage to land on the schedule. Belief was expressed tonight Georgetown surely would get the date, the game to be played in Pittsburgh.

"Georgetown will take the place of Notre Dame on the Tech schedule. Despite the fact that Georgetown always has met Fordham, its ancient Jesuit rival, in football on the Saturday before Thanksgiving, the date here in question, it is known that pending arrangements for their 1927 game are only tentative.

Both November 19 and November 26 were left unfilled when Georgetown and Fordham recently announced their schedules. In the eventuality, therefore, of the Hilltop team playing the Maroons on the latter date next year is strong.

Georgetown made a favorable impression on Pittsburgh football fans this year in the game with the University of Pittsburgh, the contest ending in a 6-to-6 tie score. Following the game Pittsburgh alumni of the local school held a warm reception for the Hilltop squad and coaches.

While Carnegie's crowning achievement during the last season was a decisive 19-to-0 defeat of the unbeaten Notre Dame eleven, proved to be one of the strongest teams of the East as early as the middle of the campaign.

The Tartans, coached by Judge Walter Steffen, of Chicago, surprised Pittsburgh on October 23 with a 14-to-0 victory and then went on to triumph over Detroit and West Virginia, holding the opponents scoreless. In between the latter games, however, Carnegie lost to New York university, but its goal line was uncrossed, as the Gothamites won on a pair of field goals.

With Carnegie on its 1927 list, Georgetown will face six strong teams, the others being Syracuse, West Virginia, Lafayette, Boston college and Fordham. Besides these Georgetown will meet four teams of the weaker class. Lenoir, Susquehanna, Wayneburg and another as yet unannounced.

GERMAN BONDS STRONG;
COPPER RISE RISKY

Berlin Electric Co. Awards
$20,000,000 Loan; Rail
Issues Are Buoyant.

NEW OFFERINGS TODAY

New York, Dec. 9 (By the Associated Press).—Strength of German obligations, based on indications that future borrowing would be curtailed by government's refusal to grant further tax exemptions on external loans, was a feature of today's active bond market. Aided by rising money rates, old classes of bonds also resumed their advance, with a brisk buying movement developing in the copper issues. Coinciding with the change in the German tax policy, it was announced that a $20,000,000 loan for the Berlin Electric Co. had been awarded to Dillon, Read & Co. and that a $6,000,000 issue of 6½ per cent V. I. A. G. bonds would be offered tomorrow by Harris, Forbes & Co. at a price of 97½. An offering of the Berlin Electric 25-year 6½ per cent bonds is expected next week at about the same price. It is believed that both issues will escape the 10 per cent tax, which will be imposed hereafter on all borrowing companies.

German government's today crossed 107 to a new high record and most of the municipal and industrial issues advanced. A firm in the copper industry, bonds failed to follow a definite trend but Berlin 7½ held at the year's best price. Reports of unusually large copper sales in the last six weeks had a stimulating effect on the bonds of these companies. Copper up more than 2 points to a new high at 148. Anaconda 6½ also reached a new top and Chile 6½ gained more than a point. Railroad issues were strengthened by the news that net earnings for the first ten months of the year exceeded $1,000,000,000. St. Paul raised its bonds and Northwestern issues were active and strong.

A $20,000,000 Hudson river-bridge bond issue, sponsored by the Port of New York Authority, is expected to appear on the market soon, three banking syndicates having submitted bids today.

CUBA MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Dec. 9 (By the Associated Press).—Specialty movements again characterized today's Cuban market, which continued to lack evidence of a definite trend. A few pools of activity in the market were noted, but the general run of stocks followed around within narrow limits. Trading in the oil was enlivened by a sudden outburst of activity in Cuba Syndicate, which jumped over 5 points to a new high record at 148. South American issues improved in sympathy. Most of the other active issues drifted lower. Receding activity in the oil group met with failure, due probably to the heavy selling of the latter by small investors and traders who have been heavily active in the last two years. Earnings of most companies, however, are unusually high due to the fairly stable price level during the past year.

Johna Manville climbed 4 points to a record high at 175 in further reflection of the fact that the company recently declared on the stock. Bulard Machine Tool and Rand Kards also touched new high records. The latter was sluggish due, in part, to the flooding of the market with shares of the company at substantial discounts below original price lists.

General Electric, which was strong earlier in the year, reacted slightly on profit-taking. Lengthy delivery of the company's new line of turbines, which were featured in the company's report, may have caused the reaction. Influence of recent price cuts. In the public utility group, American Light & Traction advanced, but the stockholders' disapproval of a proposed change in the company's management caused the stock to decline. American Gas & Electric reacted on the traditional "selling on the good news" following the announcement of a 40 per cent dividend.
